Scene Of Explosion Is Near That Of Blast Of Two Months Ago Where 56 Died

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., July 10.—Smoke blackened rescue squads, battling for hours through debris and fire, early today found the bodies of 20 miners, killed when an explosion ripped through the No. 2 mine of the Pursglove Mining Company at nearby Scott's Run.

The crews from nearby mines in Marion and Monongahela counties, augmented by survivors of the blast, dug frantically at the rock barrier throughout the night but their efforts were hampered by a wall of fire which flared in the tunnel following the explosion.

Second Recent Disaster

The disaster, second in almost two months in West Virginia, occured late yesterday afternoon when about 70 men of the 100-man "third shift" were at work.

The bodies of the victims, still unidentified, were found about four and one-half miles from the mine tipple.

Survivors of the explosion reported that the concussion could be felt

Saboteurs' Confessions Will Be Presented As Part Of Day's Testimony

By JACK VINCENT
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Prosecutors of the eight Nazi saboteurs on trial for their lives before a seven-man military commission, today placed government witnesses on the stand to pave the way for introduction of the spies' confessions of their plot to sabotage America's war effort.

As the trial entered its third day, Attorney General Francis Biddle and Advocate General Myron Cramer of the Army, in charge of the prosecution, strove to complete their case by Saturday night. They hoped to seal the saboteurs' doom by submission of the confessions in which the Nazis will convict themselves of seeking to sabotage this country's war industries.

Reveal Plot

The confessions tell how the Germans, after spending considerable time in this country, returned to Germany and were taught there in an army sabotage school how to destroy military objectives in the United States before they were brought to American shores by Nazi

Motorists Register For Gasoline Rationing Cards In Many States

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The East Coast's 3,500 local rationing boards adopted a "show me" attitude today as motorists began filing applications for supplemental rations of gasoline in addition to their basic "A" coupon books.

At the same time, registration continued at some 30,000 school houses in the 17 Atlantic states from Maine to Florida for car owners who did not sign up on the first day. Registration ends tomorrow and the new permanent rationing program becomes effective July 22.

Paul O'Leary, OPA fuel rationing chief, was expected to issue orders to local rationing boards to "get tough" and adhere strictly to the regulations in passing judgment on applications for "B" and "C" coupon books.

The job of granting supplemental rations was delegated to the three-member rationing boards as part of OPA's effort to close gaping loopholes in the rationing program and eliminate unnecessary private passenger motoring.

Hitler Will Try To Send More Saboteurs Here

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 10.—As trial of the eight Nazi saboteurs continued, America today faced the warning from J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the F.B.I., that Hitler will "try to send more destructionists to our shores."

In a radio statement discussing capture of the Germans by the F.B.I., Hoover said that his men have recovered some $176,000 of Nazi money from the spies which "will provide bombs to be sent back to Germany."

Chungking Communique Discloses Ambush Of Force Of Japanese

(International News Service)

CHUNGKING, July 10.—Chinese forces have ambushed and trapped an army of 30,000 Japanese in South China and killed 2,000 of the enemy, an official communique disclosed today. The Chinese outmaneuvered the Japanese army between Sinkan and Changchunchen, on the Kan river in Kiangsi province.

The enemy force was trapped on the river bank and was thoroughly disorganized by the Chinese assault.

Recapture of the walled city of Nancheng was announced by the Chinese high command. The Japanese left several hundred dead and fled northward in the direction of Linchwan, 45 miles distant. Nancheng is in eastern Kiangsi province, 100 miles southeast of Sinkan.

BANDITS ROB MANY PLACES IN PITTSBURGH

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 10.—Twenty boys in University of Pittsburgh and Carnegie Tech fraternity houses found their pockets empty today as bandits staged a wild night in Pittsburgh, robbing the fraternities of $266 and entering 11 other homes and business firms.

The fraternities "visited" were the Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Delta Theta, Pi Kappa Alpha and the Delta Tau Delta.

The biggest losers, however, were the thieves who missed the "house board money" at the S.A.E. house. The money was hidden in a cupboard before the students went to bed last night.

Sugar Rationing Bonus Explained

PHILADELPHIA, July 10.—The state office of price administration has issued a statement designed to clear up confusion concerning the two-pound sugar "bonus".

The statement said the extra two pounds could be sold to housewives at any time between Friday and August 22 upon presentation of coupon No. 7 in the war ration board. This coupon, however, will not be good for an additional rationed allotment.

"In other words," an OPA spokesman said, "we are taking No. 7 out of the book and using it for the bonus, which has nothing to do with the regular two-pounds-a-month ration, but is intended only to ease the present burden on sugar warehouses."

After coupon No. 6 is used the consumer must use Coupon No. 8 for the next rationed amount. By that time, coupon No. 7 will have been expended in purchase of the bonus.

"Bundles For America" Is Launched Locally

"Comradeship! Military patriotism! We have got to roll up our sleeves and tackle the jobs that confront us in this serious and vital moment. That is what our 'War Baby' Bundles for America, Inc., is doing—showing us the way in which all can do their part in shouldering the responsibilities before us. This is your war—and my war, and there are jobs for everyone. Make a contribution of furniture, discarded clothing, odds and ends of furniture, for Bundles for America, Inc., can use such. It is for all races and creeds—and we want you, and you, and you, to jump into the 'doing sprit' and win this war."

These were the words fluently and effectively spoken by charming Mrs. Wales Latham of New York, national president of Bundles for America, Inc., who addressed a throng of several hundred guests in the First Christian church last night.

When she finished she not only had stressed the words of "I want to Help Bundles for America", but the song was also in their hearts as

High Honor Given Admiral Nimitz

(International News Service)

A WEST COAST PORT, July 10.—For "exceptionally meritorious service, unfailing judgment and sound decision" in the battles of the Coral sea and Midway, the distinguished service medal, one of the nation's most coveted decorations, has been awarded by President Roosevelt to Admiral Chester W. Nimtiz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, the navy announced today.

The award was presented by Admiral Ernest King, commander-in-chief of the United States fleets, in a brief but impressive ceremony held on the quarter-deck of a navy warship.

Flying Cadet Thrown Out Of Plane, Is Saved

(International News Service)

CHICKASHA, Okla., July 10.—Flying Cadet Robert E. Boyd of Alto, Tex., was recovering today from a sprained ankle, while his instructor, T. A. Fordham, was still just a bit dazed and shocked.

The pair went aloft late yesterday and Fordham put the plane through a series of acrobatics.

Imagine the surprise of the instructor when, as he came out of a routine of acrobatics, he saw his student and companion on the flight dangling at the end of a parachute and gently floating to earth.

A quick glance at the rear cockpit of the training plane confirmed his fears. The student's safety belt had come loose and Boyd had been thrown out of the plane. He managed to release his parachute and suffered only a sprained ankle in landing.

Ten-Year-Old Girl Tells Of Triple Crime In Fresno

(International News Service)

FRESNO, Cal., July 10.—Still shocked by the tragedy that had brushed her, a ten-year-old Berkeley girl today gave authorities her version of a double murder and suicide that wiped out a Fresno family with whom she had been visiting.

The girl is Marylin Payne who had come to visit her "best friend", Patsy Dean, also 10, of the murder victims.

She told officers that Patsy's father, Alfred E. Dean, 44-year-old salesman, shot his wife, Mrs. Augie Dean, 30, to death with a sawed-off shotgun, killed Patsy and then turned the gun on himself.

Coroner John N Leslie said Dean left a note explaining that his act was caused by fear of an impending business failure.

Long Range Navy Overseas Bombers Being Made To End Sub Menace

ENTIRELY NEW TYPE OF CRAFT

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 10.—America's answer to the need for long-range navy overseas bombers which, at the same time might be used to combat the submarine menace along the Atlantic coast, was seen today in the "Sea Ranger", newest and most powerful of navy flying boats.

The craft, a combined long-range scouting and bombing plane, is being built by the Boeing Aircraft company, builders of the U. S. army's formidable Flying Fortresses.

Describing the ship as "an entirely new type of naval aircraft", the company said in a navy-approved statement that it is equipped with but two engines though its weight is in the four-engined class of fighting plane. The dual engines, it was said—Wright Cyclones of a new type—are believed to be the most powerful produced anywhere in the world.

The first of the new planes was given a test flight yesterday, the company announced, carrying a pi-

BIG HOTELS IN CHICAGO TAKEN FOR AIR FORCE

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 10.—To most of the permanent guests at the Stevens hotel, largest in the world, and at the Congress, news that the army was taking over the two big hostelries and they would have to clear out by Aug. 1 came as a blow.

The government acquired the two valuable Michigan avenue hotels on a rental basis late yesterday thru condemnation proceedings before Federal Judge William H. Holly. They will be used as reception centers to house and train approximately 15,000 air force cadets—10,000 at the Stevens and 5,000 at the Congress.

A board from the army air force was in Chicago today completing plans for operating the hotels. It was believed the army intends to install regulation bunk beds in the 3,000 rooms of the Stevens and the 1,000 rooms of the Congress, so that as many as four men may be accommodated in single rooms and more in the larger.

Nazi Generals Inspect Dutch Coast Defenses

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 10.—Further indications of Nazi fears of an Allied invasion were seen today in disclosure that General Field Marshal Karl Rudolf Rundstedt, Nazi military commander in France, and General Friedrich Christiansen, German commander in Holland, are making a joint inspection of Dutch coastal defenses.

The new visit to Holland of Von Rundstedt, charged with the defense of the entire invasion coast from Norway to Southern France, was reported by the Netherlands Indies News Agency.

Shortly after touring Holland in April the Nazis instituted new military and police measures following which 96 prominent Dutchmen, accused of conspiracy, were executed

Navy Discloses Admiral Nimitz In Plane Crash

Escapes Serious Injury—Co-pilot Of Plane Is Killed In Accident

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The Navy disclosed today that Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, escaped with minor injuries when his plane crashed on the west coast killing the co-pilot.

The only person killed was Lt. Thomas Morton Roscoe, of 1440 Sample street, Oakland, Cal., co-pilot of the plane.

The surprise announcement came shortly after the Navy disclosed that he was decorated by Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the U. S. fleet.

The Navy announcement stated briefly that Nimitz "escaped serious injury when an airplane in which he was traveling crashed in landing on an airfield at a west coast port of the United States."

The announcement also stated that the admiral "received minor injuries which did not occasion interruption of his journey."

Several other passengers also were slightly injured, the Navy said.

Nimitz, 57 year old native of Fredericksburg, Tex., was awarded the distinguished service medal by King during his visit to the Pacific coast.

LONDON, July 10.—German armored forces yesterday smashed across the Don river to two points and made an unsuccessful attack with 100 tanks against an unnamed town, the Exchange Telegraph company reported today from Moscow.

Russian artillery batteries and Soviet airplanes prevented the Germans from sending across any reinforcements, it was said.

LONDON, July 10.—General Field Marshal Walter Von Brauchitsch has again taken over direction of the military campaign in Russia after the German high command forced Adolf Hitler to reinstate him as commander-in-chief of the German army, it was reported today.

In a dispatch from Stockholm the London Daily Mail said that persons arriving in the Swedish capital from Berlin reported Hitler "unofficially" forfeited active command of the German armies in Russia.

LONDON, July 10. — British coastal patrol boats operating off the Nazi-occupied European coast sank two German minesweepers and seriously damaged three others, the admiralty announced today.

MOSCOW, July 10.—With Adolf Hitler reported displaced by Field Marshal Walter Von Brauchitsch as commander-in-chief, the German armies lunged toward Voronezh with thousands of tanks and armored cars today as heavy fighting began along the eastern bank of the Don River.

Admitting that the Nazis had succeeded in crossing the river in sufficient numbers to necessitate full-scale defensive action, the Soviet army newspaper Red Star announced that the enemy had launched a major onslaught against Voronezh itself.

Russians In Withdrawal

The attack, Red Star said, has compelled Marshal Semyon Timoshenko to withdraw to new defense lines near Rossosh.

Russian officials had no confirmation of reports reaching London that the German high command had insisted Hitler restore full powers of generalship to Von Brau-

ADMIRAL LEAHY MAY GET POST

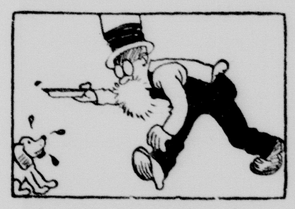

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Reports were current in diplomatic circles in Washington today that Admiral William D. Leahy, former American ambassador to Vichy France, may soon be appointed to a post which will be tantamount to coordinator of defense.

In this role, Admiral Leahy is expected to act as adviser to President Roosevelt on the war effort, with access to the war, navy and other government departments for the purpose of obtaining information on their work and policies.

The belief prevails in some quarters that the hard-bitten admiral may be a sort of "watchdog" for the president on the progress of the war effort.

Arthur Mometer

I wish some bureau potentate would call around and see our dog, and tell him what this war is all about. I'd like him to explain to him in language he can understand that for the war his food in cans is out. He is a most exacting pooch he wants his food served in a can, this bulk dry stuff is not for him he claims, and when we try to serve him thus he turns his ritzy nose far up and seems to think we're starting some new game. So will the government step in and tell our dog that cans are out, and for the war the cans are out to stay, at least for food for dogs and cats, they need the tin for other things, the weather's damp and seventy one today.

Official Report On Midway Battle Near

Notable Victory Will Be Revealed

May Be Even Greater Than That At Coral Sea Is Prediction

JAPS NAVY HIT TERRIFIC BLOW

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 10—Anticipating a final accounting of Japanese losses in the battle of Midway, naval sources asserted today the official summary may show it was an even greater victory for the United States than the Coral sea fight, and possibly was a crippling blow to Nippon's so-called invincible navy.

The navy's complete report on the mid-Pacific battle is expected momentarily, and indications are that the final tabulation will show the scope of the American success was greater than reports from Hawaii have indicated to date, and that because of this setback, Japan may be forced to change her whole future invasion strategy.

"Sunk" List Grows

Ever since the battle, which occurred the first week in June, semi-official reports from Honolulu set the Nipponese ship losses as high as 21 warships and auxiliary vessels sunk or damaged, including at least four regular aircraft carriers destroyed.

While the total figure may not vary greatly, it is expected that a number of ships previously listed as damaged will be in the "sunk" class. In addition, it must be pointed out that others still carried as damaged possibly went to the bottom before they reached Nipponese bases.

High military and naval officials, however, have warned Americans against becoming complacent over the success at Midway, because the Nipponese still may be capable of gathering a force for another desperate blow in the Hawaiian area, the Aleutians or Australia.

Evidence of this is the fact that the Japanese have already occupied three islands in the Aleutians and Nipponese ships have been observed there by American pilots on bombing missions.

The fact remains however, that in the Coral sea and Midway battles American forces "pulled the teeth" from Japan's fleet by destroying five to seven first-line aircraft carriers with their complements of planes.

ROMMEL FORCED TO SHORTEN DEFENSE LINE

ish headquarters communique said, "our mobile columns forced the enemy northward.

"The R. A. F. destroyed over 50 vehicles.

"U. S. A. A. C. heavy bombers over the Mediterranean shot down two intercepting fighters."

The Allied forces defending Egypt meanwhile conducted a methodical campaign to destroy Axis ammunition, fuel dumps and supply depots.

As American-made Boston (Douglas A-29) bombers shuttled back and forth over the Axis positions on almost hourly schedules, Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel was digging in along the El Alamein front, some 70 miles from Alexander.

Rommel Prepares Defense

He has shifted his positions and concentrated troops and equipment in the El Alamein sector during the past few days, apparently in expectation of an early attack by the British Imperial forces.

Observation flights today disclosed that his defense line no longer extends 30 miles westward from the El Alamein front, but has been considerably shortened by the withdrawal of troops and artillery pieces to strengthen the positions opposite El Alamein.

Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck has countered the Axis move by strengthening the British positions and massing men opposite Rommel's fortified line. While the front still extends some 20 miles from the coast southward into the desert, the southern end is extremely fluid.

But in the north Rommel has built a wall of artillery—heavy guns, light field pieces and anti-tank guns.

Along the shortened east-west line the enemy has mounted artillery on every piece of high ground. Anti-aircraft guns have been mounted in sunken pits are geared for double duty—to fight off air attacks and serve as anti-tank weapons.

Rommel has brought up all available reserve artillery, particularly Italian field guns, and has concentrated most of them on the El Alamein front.

Germans are using 13,000,000 men on the Russian front.

It was estimated that German casualties so far amount to 27 per cent of the total, or approximately 3,510,000.

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS, in Australia, July 10.—Allied bombers have made another successful attack on the Japanese base at Dilli, on Portuguese Timor, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced in a communique today.

Direct hits were scored on barracks and other buildings and heavy damage resulted, the communique stated.

United Nations advanced bases were free of attacks.

STOCKHOLM, July 10.—A small Swedish freighter bound for Germany with a load of coal has been sunk near the coast of Sweden by an unidentified submarine, it was disclosed today. Fourteen of the crew of 18 were lost when the vessel, the 1,950-ton Margareta, went down near the town of Norrokoeping.

LONDON, July 10.—Three British war correspondents in Egypt have been recalled to Cairo from the desert to attend an inquiry in connection with "serious difficulties caused by their dispatches," the Evening News said today.

They were Ralph Walling of Reuter's News Agency, Clifford Webb of the London Daily Herald and Aubrey Hammond of the London Daily Sketch.

Exact nature of the complaint was not known.

GERMAN FORCES IN ALL-OUT DRIVE TOWARD VORONEZH

chitsch. But the strength of the German drive clearly indicated a revitalized leadership.

At a late hour this afternoon, with what is probably the greatest mechanized battle in history now raging around Voronezh, the military situation was roughly as follows:

Situation Of Day

1. The Germans have pushed as far east as Rossosh, representing a gain of 100 miles since the enemy launched the offensive from Kharkov.

2. The enemy is using as many as 2,000 tanks in single sectors in the all-out attempt to reach Voronezh and sever the vital railway line connecting Moscow with Rostov and the Ukraine.

3. Fighting is in progress on the eastern bank of the Don although the main German force is still on the western shore, constantly harried by Russian Stormivik dive-bombers in its effort to effect a crossing.

4. Voronezh is still in Russian hands, but the woods and countryside surrounding the great Ukrainian industrial city is a junk-yard of burned-out and blasted tanks and motorized vehicles.

Condition Most Tense

Red Star frankly admitted that the situation at Rossosh is "most tense."

The Germans enjoy considerable numerical superiority and are being aided by constant streams of fresh reinforcements. Soviet troops have been compelled to withdraw from several additional settlements in the region.

Earlier, the Soviet high command anounced that three major German attacks at Voronezh had been repulsed.

Red army leaders at the same time disclosed that large-scale combats were raging on the Kalinin front northwest of Moscow.

With the increasing activity in the Kalinin area and relentless eastward thrusts by the Nazis from the Kursk-Kharkov sector intense fighting was in progress along a line almost 700 miles in length.

Greatest Tank Battle

The battle before the strategic rail junction of Voronezh on the Don river front involved the greatest number of tanks and planes ever concentrated on a single sector during the Russo-German war.

Nazi General Field Marshal Fedor Von Bock, seeking to smash his way across the important river barrier, threw in masses of tanks, reportedly numbering as many as 2,000. Supporting these steel monsters were large numbers of planes and heavy guns of all calibers.

Formidable Russian defenses held the Germans at bay while other forces under command of Marshal Semyon Timoshenko struck furiously at the flanks of the German eastward wedge.

The Soviets were forced to give ground, however, further to the south where a strong eastward thrust carried the Germans to Rossosh, important railway and industrial town 100 miles east of Kharkov and 110 miles south of Voronezh.

The battling west of Voronezh and in the vicinity of Rossosh continued throughout the night without let-up, the noon communique of the Soviet high command said.

The Nazi advance to Rossosh, 20 miles from the middle of the Don basin, places in jeopardy the 100-mile stretch of the vital Moscow-Rostov railway running north to Voronezh.

Whether the Germans, striking with three armored divisions and several infantry divisions, had been able to cut the rail line at Rossosh was not known. But the Nazis undoubtedly are within shelling distance of the railway leading to Rostov, gateway to the oil-rich Caucasus.

BLAZE AT SHOPS

City firemen were called to the B. & O. railroad shops on Thursday, when the platform around an oil tank caught fire. Shop firemen had the fire under control and no action was required of the city department. The damage was small.

they volunteered by registering for some kind of service. She emphasized the fact that there is not any red tape connected with any part of the organization—just the willingness "to do", and that is what this "war baby" shows you—how you can do it.

Major Project

The major project is salvage sewing rooms, local headquarters donated by John S. Wallace, being located where the old Paisley drug store used to be, corner of Croton avenue at East Washington street. This will be the main center, with organized precincts in all districts turning their work in here after completion.

Furnishing of "day rooms", lounging rooms at camps provided by the government but not furnished, that is our job. It is where your son, husband or brother smokes a cigarette, reads a book or writes a letter home. Day nurseries for children of war-working women is another. Making of men's kits to be presented to soldiers leaving for foreign service, with names of persons making same pasted inside, to give that "somebody cares" feeling. Making of sandwiches and coffee for boys leaving your home city for camp, and being there for the send-off at the railroad station is another. There are many, many jobs, Mrs. Latham stated, to be done from the "bottom up". The forming of a local girls' Junior Bundles for America, Inc., is in the offing for young commandos to do their bit.

Two minutes of "silent prayer" at the noon hour every day as church bells toll, will soon be effective in this city. It is being observed almost everywhere and is an effective expression of "we are one".

Introduced by Judge

Mrs. Latham was introduced by Judge John G. Lamoree. He was presented by Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church, who told of the purpose of Bundles for America. Dr. J. J. McIlvaine, of the First Presbyterian church offered the invocation. "America" was sung as the opening number, and "The Star Spangled Banner" by the assemblage was the closing selection, with Sam Lewis leading, and Mrs. Richard K. Allen at the organ.

Superb were the two groups of numbers contributed by the Schubert Sextette, composing Mrs. Wm. J. Caldwell, Mrs. Ross Rosenberger, Mrs. L. P. Hauschild, Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine, Mrs. James A. Rugh and Mrs. L. P. Friend, with Mrs. Allen, accompanist.

Following, the group enjoyed viewing "Nursery Paintings" of tiny town folks found in children's story books, the art work of Winifred Johnson, known in private life as Countess Maurice De Bosdari, daughter of Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson. These paintings are on sale for Bundles for America, and would brighten up any nursery. Winifred Johnson is doing a tremendous job in Florida as leader for Bundles for America, Inc., and recently sold 38 pictures in New York for the benefit of this organization.

The paintings will remain on display this afternoon and evening for persons interested.

Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson was unanimously named general chairman of New Castle Bundles for America at a lovely luncheon given Thursday afternoon in her home on Moody avenue. Fifty or more guests in attendance pledged their support to make Bundles for America a success, which is an organization that does not overlap any other. It does co-operate with other groups and has been called upon largely by the army, navy, Salvation Army, Community Chests and others to aid families on the "home front", as well as those in uniform on the "war front".

Mrs. Johnson, who is responsible for Bundles for America being formed in New Castle, has a fine corps of officers, vice chairmen and aides, who will be working with her, their names to be announced later.

SABOTEURS' TRIAL TO GET CONFESSIONS DURING HEARINGS

submarines. The confessions were obtained voluntarily from the prisoners by F.B.I. agents after their capture.

While persons attending the trial were sworn to secrecy and threatened with contempt proceedings if they talked, it was learned that every one of the Nazis implicated at least one of his fellow conspirators in their separate confessions. The spies obviously pointed accusing fingers at each other after they were nabbed by the F.B.I.

It was reported that they talked voluntarily and freely, some of them apparently hoping for leniency. But Biddle and Cramer have demanded the death penalty for them all, and the court is empowered to have them hanged or shot.

None of the spies knew what the others had said since they were kept in separate rooms as they "sang." The saboteurs also are kept in widely separated cells in the district jail cellblock taken over by the Army for military prisoners.

The state of Texas has lived under six flags—France, 1685-1763; Spain, 1689-1821; Mexico, 1821-1836; Texas, 1836-1845; Confederacy, 1845-1861, and the United States, 1861-65.

that federal agents fell upon the Buffalo, N. Y., exchange student who, while studying in Germany, succumbed to the lure of Nazi agents and became schooled in Germany's espionage system.

Had $7,000 In U. S. Money

When his education in this shady work was complete, the Nazis provided him with $7,000 in U. S. currency and the proper credentials and headed him for America to secure and transmit back to Germany information on the American war effort and military affairs.

Bahr's arrest and confession, according to federal agents, disclosed the elaborate preparations the Nazis made for protection of their spies. Bahr, scholarly and neat appearing, is perhaps the most intelligent of the nine German spies picked up within the past month.

He admitted the $7,000, most of which was found in his possession, was for his passage, personal expenses and to "loosen tongues" of Americans who might know some military secrets of interest to Germany.

Given Plausible Tale

The Gestapo, wishing to safeguard the spy, provided him with a complete history of a "Jewish family which could no longer be traced." In the event he was questioned or ran into difficulties, he was to claim that he was the sole survivor of that family and sale of a stamp collection possessed by that family was to have netted him the $7,000.

Bahr also was coached in preparation of invisible ink and the writing of messages secretly on the backs of innocuous appearing letters for mailing to Switzerland and South America and eventual transmission to Germany.

It was a thorough schooling job with the touch of mastery but it collapsed when F.B.I. and other federal agents submitted Bahr to intensive questioning.

Still Question 300

While his is the only arrest resulting from the Drottninghoim questioning, which lasted six days before the boat was cleared, 300 of her passengers still are being interrogated at Ellis Island.

As a German-born naturalized American citizen, Bahr may be tried under the espionage law which carries a death sentence for conviction, or under the articles of war as a spy invading the United States, legal authorities said. If tried under the articles of war, it was pointed out, it would mean an Army trial similar to the one now being given the eight Nazi saboteurs captured by the F.B.I. after they were landed on the eastern coast by Nazi submarines.

Bahr, ranking highest in scholastic standings in the Buffalo, N. Y. Technical High school where he won his athletic letter eight times and, upon graduation, was valedictorian of his class. He won a free tuition scholarship to Rensselaer Polytechnic institute at Troy and a scabbard and blade scholarship from the Reserve Officers Training Corps.

TWENTY MINERS KILLED IN BLAST AT MORGANTOWN

throughout the shaft and it was thought entirely possible that the scene of the blast could be in Pennsylvania since the tipple is little more than four miles from the West Virginia-Pennsylvania border.

Workers, not directly in the danger zone, said that directly after the blast, dust and smoke began creeping up the shaft and that they beat a hasty retreat to the safety of the mine entrance.

Fifty Escape

Joseph Stuart, mine manager, announced that all but 20 of the 70 men in the mine at the time had escaped. Earlier, it was feared the death list would be greater since many of the survivors, without notifying officials, re-entered the shaft to aid in rescue work.

Mine inspectors from the U. S. Bureau of Mines in Pittsburgh, Pa.; Waynesburg, Pa., and Fairmont, W. Va., hurried to the scene and joined state police and mine officials in an investigation.

Only a year ago, the bureau awarded the mine a safety citation for producing more than 3,000,000 tons of coal without a fatality.

The explosion followed by two months, the disaster at the Christopher Coal Company's No. 3 mine at nearby Osage where 56 men lost their lives on May 12. Christopher is located about one mile from the Pursglove tipple and also was recognized by the mine bureau as being a safe mine.

"Designed to answer the need for a long-range, heavily armored overseas patrol bomber, the Boeing Sea Ranger is expected to have a longer range and to carry a larger bomb load than any naval plane now in service," the company statement declared. "It is also capable of hunting out and destroying enemy submarines and surface vessels."

CHINA PROVIDES INSPIRATION

STORY of China during these last few years is one to stir the sympathy and the admiration of every American and, in fact, of every man and woman everywhere by whom the ideal of human freedom is cherished. China, engaged in a long and desperate struggle against a powerful and savage enemy, is today bloody but unconquered, beaten on many fronts but still struggling heroically for victory.

There is no nation now engaged in the war for human freedom that cannot capture inspiration from contemplation of the history of China during these last five years. Essentially a peace-loving people, impoverished and living without the advantages of an adequate government, the Chinese were nevertheless rich in certain natural resources which were coveted by their acquisitive neighbors, the Japanese.

In the beginning there was small reason to hope for anything but a swift and easy conquest of the Chinese by the formidable military forces of the Japanese. They lost heavily and swiftly. Their poorly trained and equipped armies were shattered and driven back. Their cities, without defense against air attack, were blasted into ruins. Their women and children and aged were treated with bestial cruelty by the enemy soldiers. Great stretches of territory were lost.

China during these last five years has endured every agony that war can produce. Millions of its people, both soldiers and civilians, have been killed. Others have died from starvation. But the Chinese have not been conquered. And in continuing their fight against great odds the Chinese, in the words of President Roosevelt to Generalissimo Kai-Shek, have fought "the fight of all mankind."

KNOWING HISTORY

Far more important at this juncture than what the governor of South Carolina said to the governor of North Carolina on a famous occasion is what Governor Carr of Colorado told the educators of the United States at the National Education Association convention in Denver. That was to teach American history in such a manner that pupils of grade and high schools, yes, and the men and women coming out of colleges, shall not view America's place in the world with "defeatist" minds.

"It is up to the educators to see to it that they have a real background from which to draw information, that they understand that the bases of our way of life are valuable and good—that they can answer the problems that are going to be presented."

In particular is it necessary for youth to understand that "the bases of our way of life are valuable and good." Of late years there has been a disposition by certain historians to "debunk" American history. National heroes are of smaller stature when these writers get through with them. They make the development of a thinly populated fringe on the Atlantic seaboard into a people of 133,000,000 altogether too fortuitous. It is not an accident, however, that the Union was preserved in the Civil War, or that the Republic has endured more than a hundred and fifty years and never was stronger or more single-minded than today.

Not baseless idolatry of the past, to be sure, but the establishment of a just, and therefore prideful, understanding of the country's course should be fundamental to the teaching of American history. Never was such an understanding more necessary than when the American people are engaged in a world war for the survival of the things that make America great.

FIRE IS THE ENEMY OF PRODUCTION

Over the years, great progress has been made in fire prevention and protection. According to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, had it not been for this progress, our annual fire loss would now be more than $200,000,000 a year greater than it actually is.

That is a real achievement. But we should not take it as an indication that aggressive fire prevention activities are no longer vitally necessary. Instead, we should take it as a challenge. If this much progress was possible, far greater progress is also possible.

The war has created new fire hazards and intensified old ones. The rapid building of factories is a potential danger. Millions of untrained or little-trained men are going to work in war industry, and unless they are schooled in safe practices, they will unwittingly cause fire. Congestion in the residential areas of industrial communities is also a major hazard. All over the country, civic organizations and businesses are gathering and salvaging paper and other scrap. Unless these materials are properly stored and handled, they may be the cause of serious and far-reaching fires.

The solution lies in education—education of workers, education of foremen, education of homeowners; in short, education of everyone. It should be everlastingly emphasized that only a small proportion of fires are actually unpreventable. The overwhelming majority of all fires are caused by ignorance and carelessness—which simply means that they are caused by human failure.

Let all start now on a new campaign to fight fire to a finish. If fire prevention work has cut losses by $200,000,000 a year, the same kind of work, on a still greater scale, can cut losses as much again. Fire is the enemy of production—and production is the secret of victory in war. When we fight fire, we fight an ally of the Axis.

Wouldn't you like to be as sure of any one thing as the average newspaper columnist is of everything?

Approximately 43,000,000 males now are registered with Uncle Sam for military duty. That's a mighty bulwark for victory.

Talk is resumed of extending gasoline rationing westward. This is one time when the west has no desire whatever to follow the east.

A micrometer used in war production measures to one 350-thousands of an inch. It isn't needed to measure war production progress, however.

It is said by European correspondents that Hitler is keeping himself in good physical condition. We presume that he is devoting considerable time to training for long distance running.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

DESIRABLE HABITS FOR CHILDREN

BELOW ARE listed a number of desirable habits for children. If your child is under school age, you may be interested in reading this list of habits with a view to working toward their cultivation. If your child is six or older you will want to ask yourself how many of these habits he has acquired. Take a pencil and rate your child. If the habit is well established rate that habit 5; if never done, 0; if done rarely, 1; if more often, 2; if half the time, 3; if four-fifths of the time, 4. Your child may desire to make a rating of himself or to work out a rating with you.

Cleanliness First

Here is the list: (1) uses tooth brush regularly; (2) washes hands before meals without being told; (3) bathes regularly; (4) drinks proper quantity of milk; (5) drinks proper quantity of water; (6) does not handle food; (7) eats vegetables without complaint; (8) has good habits of elimination; (9) sleeps proper number of hours each night; (10) waits upon himself; (11) dresses and undresses himself; (12) is careful in crossing street; (13) never plays in the street; (14) is orderly in hanging up clothes in bedroom; (15) is orderly in putting away play and work materials; (16) puts cap, coat, rubbers, etc., into proper place on entering house; (17) does not tattle.

Continued List

Shares his possessions (18); (19) is agreeable when he cannot have his own way; (20) is truthful; (21) does not cry upon slight physical injury; (22) submits to first aid without crying or flying into a rage; (23) shows courage in respect to dental treatment.. (24) is not cowardly when unjustly attacked; (25) controls himself when angry; (26) is kind to younger and weaker children; (27) is respectful toward aged persons; (28) it not a bully; (29) does not tease other children just to annoy them; (30) does not laugh at others' mistakes; (31) does not take or use property of others without their consent; (32) restores lost property to rightful owner on own initiative; (33) does not destroy or deface property; (34) returns borrowed property promptly; (35) anticipates wants and does not borrow; (36) is systematic is saving money; (37) is reverent during grace or prayer; (38) does assigned tasks without complaint; (39) promptly follows commands without their being repeated; (40) is a good loser; (41) is a graceful winner; (42) faces his auditors; (43) expresses himself clearly; (44) expresses himself without shyness; (45) shows no fear of thunder storms; (46) shows no fear of animals; (47) shows no fear of darkness.

Add other habits and check in the same way. You should not attempt to develop a large number of these habits at one time if you wish to be successful.

A perfect rating would be 235.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. An only child of 13 has recently become very grouchy.

A. This lad should be given a complete physical examination by a doctor. Study him to see if he has been meeting with great discouragements at school or among his friends. There must be a cause other than a desire to be disagreeable. He certainly needs patient, sympathetic and understanding treatment. I am sure punishment is not the answer.

The World and the Mud Puddles

THEY NEVER GROW OLD

Every full-blooded man who has played baseball more or less frequently in his youth cannot resist the temptation to horn into a kid baseball game on a neighborhood lot whenever the occasion permits. He does not care so much about chasing the ball in the out-field, or covering the in-field, or even pitching or catching; he wants to bat.

Referring to your own youth, every baseball enthusiast remembers that when a baseball game was suggested among his fellow playmates, someone always said: "one-in bats" or "two-in bats," depending upon whether or not there were sufficient boys on the lot to play a game of "one-in" or "two-in." In other words, every boy wanted to bat first and it was no unusual thing to find a boy, if he was put out, to leave the game. Batting was all the glory; field was all the work.

Well Charlie Ruggles, the actor, who played a lot of baseball when he was younger, worked himself into a kid baseball game on a vacant lot near his home. One husky kid who happened to be "in bat" hit a long foul, sawing where it was going and handed the bat to Ruggles and said: "It's your bat now" and vanished.

The ball went through a big window in Ruggles' home and his houseboy came out screaming: "You pay for that!"

No one was in sight but Charlie when the houseboy got to the vacant lot—and Oh, boy! did both of them feel foolish?

"Now, then," said the lawyer encouragingly, "please tell the jury what you and the defendant talked about."

"That I'll do," replied Pat. "We talked about ten minutes.

"No, no!" interrupted the lawyer, "I mean what did you and the defendant talk over?"

"Oh, that!" replied Pat calmly, "Sure, and we talked over the tillphone, sir."

REDUCING WIDTH OF SQUARE FACE

"My face has a square effect. Can you give me any hints for making it appear more oval — thereby reducing the width of my chain?"—S. F.

Answer: Wear "V" necklines, long-strand necklaces. High necklines and round collairs increase facial width. Too many ruffles, frills or details tend to make the full face heavier and to accentuate irregularities—so cling to simplicity in necklines.

Hairdress: Large, loose waves, always, also a front pompadour with hair partially covering the ears. Hair low on forehead increases width of face; so if you like bangs have them very short and curled. The soft, upsweep effect of a feather cut should prove flattering.

Hats: Those with brims you will find more becoming than those off-the face. However, you might successfully wear a calot if your hair is arranged in a pompadour or 1942 bang effect. Before the present revolutionary hairdos, women with facial defects were limited to brimmed hats only.

Sailors, which add width to the face, will be least becoming to you. An irregular brim will do more to slenderize your too-prominent jawline.

Question: Should the ushers wait until all guests have departed from the church before going to the reception?—S. L.

Answer: They should leave as soon as they have escorted the bride's and groom's families from the church. It is not necessary nor advisable for them to wait until the church is emptied, for in so doing they would be very late for the reception.

Question: Is it necessary for a boy to send a girl a corsage when he is taking her to a dance?—R. Y.

Answer: I understand from the younger set that it is almost obligatory. The boy who is neglectful about this automatically becomes a pariah.

Reports From Some Fronts Are Doubted
Suspect Some Nations Of Exaggeration
Chinese War Reports Accepted As True

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, July 10.—When Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Chungking government makes an announcement concerning the progress of its country's war with the Japs, it's accepted in Washington and doubtless at the rest of the United Nations' capitals without a fraction of 1 per cent of its accuracy.

This isn't true of reports from others of the pending conflict's various fields of activity.

The British, telling of developments in North Africa, always emphasize whatever gains they've made so vehemently that they're a bit suspected of exaggerating. If they have to admit a reverse, they qualify it almost unbelievably. The Russians, belatedly conceding the loss of some such stronghold as Sevastopol, never fail to remark that, "Oh well, it was left in ruins," and that the enemy's sacrifices were literally appalling.

The Germans do the same thing. Their stories are regarded with a barrel of salt, anyway.

Italy isn't often heard from hopefully or contrariwise.

Coral Sea and Midway

As between the United States and Japan there's room for skepticism. Military and navy men surely know exactly which outfit had a deal the better of the scraps in the Coral Sea and at Midway. The public, though, can't but wonder, if the Japs' defeats in those engagements were as overwhelming as the American press has represented 'em. We were'nt LICKED, it's true, but were the results greatly better than a tie each?—so far as actual fighting was concerned. If we WON clean-cut, why didn't we utterly exterminate the opposition?

And the Aleutians?

It's all right to say that the Japs' diggings in there were facilitated by Aleutian weather, but why was it any worse weather for us than for the Nippon aggregation?

All this isn't to imply that the United Nations aren't winning in general, but press agentry creates considerable uncertainty as to current details.

The Chinese, however, haven't any press agentry.

What they accomplish or what happens to 'em they TELL.

If they say there's some spot where they've been thumped, they proclaim it.

If they say they've registered a wallop against the Mikado, the bet's a safe one.

It's a queer country.

Being so close together as they are, and both Mongolians, why aren't the Chinese and Japs brethren? But they're not. Far from it.

In the old days of the Boxer Rebellion, the Japs were ardently pro-Caucasian. Today we and the Chinese are anti-Jap and then some.

When we barred Oriental immigration, we classed 'em together. I'll bet the Chinese could get in now, if we weren't too busy to attend to it. But the Japs? They're saboteurs—cuss 'em!

I've lived among both of 'em.

Generalizing, I've liked the Chinese best.

Yet, as individuals, I've had Jap friends who were as close to me as any Occidental. I'd have hated to lose one of 'em as much as I would have a Briton. They're just as civilized as we are.

That Military Class

The dope is that we don't need to civilize the bulk of Japan.

We need to civilize its MILITARY CLASS. China doesn't need and de-militarization. It's GOT it. Japan's just ONE GROUP. That disposed of, it's okay.

Seemingly nobody's left out of consideration but the Germans.

And yet, the Germans, as transplanted in this country in past years, have been as respectable local and world citizens as anybody.

How about 'em, as distinguished between assimilated Americans et cetera.

I cant' imagine 'em as a different race. Are they?

Well, Adolf Hitler isn't a German, anyway. He's an Austrian.

Nevertheless, Germany fell for him. He's Germany's responsibility.

Obviously nationalities and races don't signify any more. It's a mere issue of human beings.

PIE

Very fond of it am I,
Apple, mince or any pie,
But the doctor shakes his head,
Saying: "Orange juice instead,
Or a peach or pallid pear.
Of all sweeter foods beware.
It is time, I'm sure, you learned
Pie is something to be spurned."

Still I turn a wistful eye
On whatever sorts of pie
To the dinner table come;
Apple, huckleberry, plum.
And I say: "I'm feeling fine!
Let a little wedge be mine.
But the mother shakes her head
With a "No! the doctor said!"

I could give up fish or bran
And still be a happy man.
Kidney beans I could forego
And no trace of sadness show.
What is known as Brussels sprout
I could bravely do without.
But the doctor says that I
Must forever give up pie!

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, New Zealand minister to the United States, emphasizes the importance of planning now to win the peace: "If we make the mistake that we made last time of leaving the peace to look after itself, then we will assuredly be setting the stage for another war—perhaps within another generation."

LOS ANGELES—Col. M. Thomas Tchou, former private secretary to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek: "Before we can plan a lasting peace, we must educate ourselves to a world citizenship."

WASHINGTON — William R. Boyd Jr., chairman of the petroleum industry war council, urges girdles be added to the rubber scrap heap: "Curves and bulges are patriotic these days . . . and any girl who seems slightly out of shape probably is more patriotic than her sister whose curves are still confined."

CAMBRIDGE — Dr. Sidney E. Goldstein urges military control of war weddings: "The military power that undertakes to draft and to train men for war should forbid a marriage to which no sensible person would give his consent in peace time."

HAPPIGRAMS

by ERICH BRANDEIS

From Milan, Italy, came the story of Siro Bernasconi, a banker, who went hunting in the forests near Novara, climbed a tree and began imitating the mating call of a turtle dove. He hoped to attract the birds so he might shoot them.

His cooing was so realistic that another hunter fired away at the tree, and down came Bernasconi with considerable buckshot inside of him.

He is now recovering in a hospital.

This is a true story, yet it reads like an allegory.

Imagine Hitler on the hunt. Mussolini is the turtle dove. Adolf coos. Benito thinks he hears his mate and flies toward the tree.

But here the allegory ends. It isn't Hitler who gets shot. Not yet. It's Turtle Dove Mussolini. Buckshot in the head. Buckshot in the wings. Buckshot all over.

But the story isn't finished yet.

Adolf is still in the tree, shooting and cooing at random.

But he's got too many turtle doves who listened to his cooing.

If he isn't stopped he'll get every turtle dove in the forest.

Now comes a great big bear, and a tenacious lion, and the majestic eagle.

"Stop that fake cooing," they say.

"I won't either," shouts Hitler, hand on hips and stamping his foot.

So the lion, the eagle and the bear get together and, after a long struggle, take Hitler's gun away, hit him over the head with it, and finish him off.

And as he lies down for his final sleep, he lisps:

"I should have stood in bed."

Daily Dozen

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

There is no rationing of vacation fun.

But one doesn't have to drive a thousand miles to have it.

Vacation means surcease from the daily grind and labor.

Families will stay at or near home this summer and like it.

Crowded seaside resorts do not always mean restful vacation.

The organized activities of a dude ranch are not conducive to rest.

Wherever one vacations there are safety rules to remember.

Be moderate in exercise, in eating and in exposure to sunshine.

Get plenty of sleep and rest.

Swim only when accompanied by another swimmer.

Avoid unnecessary chances in all activities.

Have fun this summer but have fun safely.

Some Doctors Must Stay On Home Front

Despite Military Needs, Civilians Must Be Protected, Says Journal

By J. M. MINAR
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, July 10.—Seeking a balance between the urgent needs of the military services for more physicians and the requirements of the civilian population, the journal of the American Medical Association declared that approximately one physician for every 1,500 persons must be left at home.

The journal reiterated previous statements that a real shortage of physicians exists in our tremendously exapnding army, but said the health and morale of the civilian population should not be jeopardized by taking too many physicians away.

The ratio of physicians for each 1,000 men now in the armed forces is 6.5. The exact number in the service is a strict military secret.

The journal pointed out, however, that recruiting of physicians for war service can be done without jeopardizing the health standards of the community if citizens call physicians only when absolutely necessary and if the recruiting is spread out proportionately among the states and communities.

Thus the civilian will play a leading role in the program of providing ample medical care for both military and civil needs. Where possible, it was said, patients must be transported to doctors, not doctors to patients.

The basic 1 to 1,500 figure was for "effective" physicians in general practice and the journal stated that this might be revised after further surveys by a special committee of the procurement and assignment service. The journal previously has urged more general voluntary enlistments among the medical profession, particularly in those areas where the response has been proportionately low.

A statement of Paul V. McNutt was published in which the chairman of the war manpower commission warned that unless voluntary enlisting progressed more rapidly "some more rigorous form of selective must be resorted to."

"We need more than 20,000 physicians by the end of this year. But eight states—New York, Illinois, California, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Michigan and Ohio—should account for nearly 16,000 of that shortage."

DONATES 107,000 RUBBER BANDS TO 'JAPANZI ERASER'

(International News Service)

READING, Pa., July 10.—Uncle Sam's mammoth "Japanazi Eraser" took on added stature recently with the contribution of Paul H. D. Rissmiller to the Reading-Berks Defense Council's rubber scrap drive.

Weighted down with 114 pounds of rubber, representing 107,000 rubber bands which took three years to gather, Rissmiller staggered into defense headquarters the other day, and said: "Here's my humble offering to erase the Japs and the Nazis."

Trains Carry Over Four Million Troops

Number Of Men In 1942 Far Above Comparable Period Of World War I

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 10. — American railroads have transported approximately 4,500,000 troops, exclusive of those on furlough, in the continental United States during the first five months of 1942, it was disclosed today by Ralph E. Clark, an official of the Association of American Railroads.

This number is about equal to the troops American railroads carried in comparable movements during the first 13 months of America's participation in the first world war, Clark told a meeting in Chicago of the mid-west shippers advisory board.

And heavy though the railroads' burden is, Clark said, the volume of military traffic will increase. "This will mean from five to seven passenger movements for every man from the time of induction until departure from our shores for foreign duty."

Clark said the railroads at the same time are handling the "greatest freight transportation job in their history," while passenger business in the first four months of this year, Clark said, was 44 per cent above the same period of 1941.

Huckleberry Crop Large This Year

Favorable Spring Season With Abundant Rainfall Held Responsible

HARRISBURG, July 10.—Reports received by the Department of Forests and Waters say that the huckleberry crop this summer is unusually large. The favorable spring season with abundant rainfall was responsible for the heavy crop.

Huckleberry picking is the chief source of revenue during the summer of many Pennsylvania families. This is particularly true of the anthracite and bituminous coal regions, where families frequently camp on the areas so as to take advantage of every opportunity to pick the berries.

Pennsylvania has seven varieties of huckleberries which are used commercially. The black huckleberry is the most important and has the widest distribution. It grows on rocky hillsides and on soil which it not suited for other plants and attains a height of three feet. The fruit is light blue to glossy black in color and is firm and sweet.

Three of the seven varieties are blueberries which, though members of the huckleberry family, belong to a separate botanical genus. Other forms of the huckleberry plant grow from 10 to 15 feet in height and are usually found in swampy areas.

NOISE APLENTY

(International News Service)

MIDLAND ARMY FLYING SCHOOL, Texas.—If all the practice bombs stored in the "dump" at this world's largest bombardier college were dropped at the same time, the tonnage would be 17 times greater than that dropped by the British in their recent devastating raid on the Nazi port of Rostock. No estimate is available on noise.

But her charm is only in your imagination if it disappears when her beauty fades.

West Side School Being Improved

Suspended Ceilings Are Being Installed And Other Changes Made

West Side school is having its face lifted. Passersby will notice the piles of sand, plaster bags and mortar boards in front of the school. This is only a part of the equipment which the plaster contractor is using to remake the school's interior.

New ceilings are being built throughout the school. On entering a room under construction, one finds that all the seats have been removed and a scaffolding covers the entire area of the room at the heignt of five feet. The new ceiling is called a suspended ceiling since the metal lathe is hung from the joists. Over the metal lathe, the plasterer applies a rough brown mortar, followed by a smooth white, sand finish.

It is the understanding that the ceiling will be left white and that modern lighting fixtures will be installed. This will be a major improvement over the old, non-reflective dull ceiling. The walls will be painted later on.

Thaddeus Stevens school is next in line for renovation, the contractor stated.

When the pupils of both schools enter this Fall, they will be surprised to see that a great change has taken place and will find a much more pleasant atmosphere in which to study. Note must also be made to the fact that eyestrain will be lessened due to the better reflective qualities in the ceiling.

Gandhi Presents Program For India

(International News Service)

WARDHA, July 10.—Mohandas K. Gandhi, aged and ailing leader of India's masses, has presented his program to carry on the fight for Indian independence to the working committee of the All-India national congress party, it was disclosed today.

Gandhi recently announced that he would soon launch a campaign "of unusual scope and character" whereby India could free itself of British rule and gain complete political independence, and told nation congress party leaders he expected full co-operation of the congress.

But well informed sources understood that the Gandhi plan will call for a revival of his program of active civil disobedience and passive resistance. This form of political warfare was first introduced in India by Gandhi in 1921 shortly after he assumed leadership of the Indian nationalist movement.

The movement swept over the country and Gandhi was arrested in 1922 and sentenced to six years imprisonment, but was released in 1924 and became president of the national congress party.

Margaret Henry Home Plans Second Reunion

Inasmurch as last year's reunion for the Margaret Henry Home was such an overwhelming success, a second reunion is planned, the date being set for Sunday, July 19.

The event will take place at the Margaret Henry Home grounds, and a large number of cards have been mailed out to persons who received their rearing in the home. It provides an opportunity for former residents of the home to see the improvements and progress made. They will also be taken on a tour, some time during the day, through the entire building, and in the evening will be served dinner.

Interested persons of the Margaret Henry Home are invited to join the reunion festivities during the afternoon.

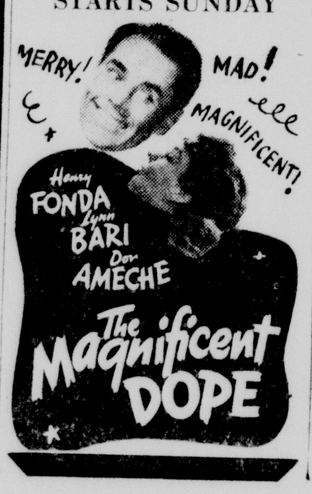

The objection to perfume used by a man is that it usually has too much competition.

Discuss Red Cross Policies At Field Club

Home Service Department Of Lawrence County Chapter Hosts To Franklin Group

Miss Thyra Fulton's home service department of the American Red Cross was hostess to a group from the Franklin and Meadville chapters of the American Red Cross Thursday afternoon at the New Castle Field club, when a number of important policies and procedures were discussed.

Present from the Franklin chapter were: Miss Clara Beach, executive secretary; Mrs. Robert Galbreath, chairman of surgical dressings, and Miss Josephine Ingram, executive secretary of the Meadville chapter.

Watering Troughs May Be Revived

Restricted Use Of Automobiles May Make Necessary Old Watering Troughs

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, July 10.—Old wooden water troughs, once so common along the public roads in Pennsylvania, may be revived because of the restricted use of automobiles, says W. E. Montgomery, chief of the division of management, Department of Forests and Waters.

The advent of the automobile hastened their disappearance and today wooden troughs are rare along public highways but they still may be seen occasionally along country roads and by-lanes.

The making of a good hewn water trough was considered an art in craftsmanship. The troughs were usually eight feet in length and between two and three feet in diameter. Selected white pine logs were most commonly used. When hewing a water trough the woodsman rejected the butt logs of a tree because of "shake" and used the second or third log, cutting away the interior with a double bitted axe and an adz. These troughs were very stout and durable and many of them saw service for fifty years.

Plank troughs were made of white pine, oak, or hemlock, and varied in length from six to twelve feet. Plank troughs were less durable than those made from logs and their service was about half of that of a hewn trough.

Assistance Board On Food Stamp Work

Plan To Be In Operation By Aug. 1; Certification Of Families Begun

With definite information that the Surplus Food Stamp Plan will be inagurated in Lawrence county by the beginning of August or the last of July, the Lawrence county Board of Assistance yesterday started to work certifying all the families in the county who are eligible for the Food Stamp benefits.

At a staff meeting yesterday afternoon, the procedure of certification was carefully explained to the Lawrence county staff by representatives from Washington, Pittsburgh and Harrisburg.

From Washington, came John Getsay, traveling administrator for the Agricultural Marketing Administration, who explained that the object of the plan during the war was to increase the nutritional values of meals for the assistance classes in line with the national "Better Foods for Victory" program.

Lyle Forsyth, commodity distribution representative from Pittsburgh explained how the certified families would buy their stamps—by money order from the Pittsburgh office. Marjorie Badertscher, the field representative of the State Assistance Board in Harrisbuag, explained the job of the assistance boards in the stamp plan.

It was announced yesterday at the meeting that all families who wish to participate in the plan for August must be certified by July 20, and the local board is going to attempt to certify all eligible families on its rolls by that time.

Now 700,306 Acres Of State Game Land

Game Commission Chief Says 61 Of 67 Counties Embraced

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 10.—Pennsylvania's game land now occupies a total of 700,306 acres distributed throughout 61 of the state's 67 counties, Ross L. Leffler, president of the game commission announced.

In addition to the acreage for which title is now vested in the commonwealth, for use of the game commission and sportsmen, almost 38,000 acres are under contract for purchase, going through the various stages of boundary line surveys and title vesting. The acreage acquired to date cost a total of $2,704,354.45, or an average of $3.86 per acre.

By far the largest proportion of the money paid for the land came from a comparatively small percentage of resident hunter's license fees during the 22 year period, reports the game prexy. The only other source of money for the purchase of land comes from federal aid in wildlife restoration funds, made available to the state during the past three years.

Camp East Brook Chatter

Tuesday brought about new life to the "Hundred Acre Wood" at Camp East Brook. For the most part older creatures hopped into "Rabbit's Hole", leaped into "Kanga's House", flew into "The Wolery", routed about in "Trespasser W" and scampered around "Thistle and Pooh Corners". Twelve campers from the first period returned for the present period. Nearly all the inhabitants of the various cabins were unpacked, had their beds made and were well on their way toward making new acquaintances by the time the dinner bell rang.

The afternoon program consisted of the routine weigh-in and plunge. After supper the campers were divided into three groups and progressed to exciting games of volley ball, mushball and dodgeball. Crackers and milk were eagerly devoured afterward.

Wednesday initiated the girls into the leadership of "Chirp" and under "Scottie's" leadership on Wednesday night.

MINER COULD HARDLY EAT ENOUGH TO KEEP UP

Retonga Relieved His Distress So He Can Eat Anything Now And Lots Of It, States Mr. Buffington. . . . Feels Fine Again.

MR. W. F. BUFFINGTON

"Retonga did everything claimed for it in my case, and I can tell all my friends that it beats any medicine I have ever taken," declares Mr. W. F. Buffington, well known miner for the Truex Traler Coal Co., who resides at Racine, W. Va., and is a popular member of the United Mine Workers of America. Discussing his experience with this famous gastric tonic combined with Vitamin B-1 which so many people throughout West Virginia are praising, Mr. Buffington declared:

"I hardly ate enough to keep up my strength for everything I did eat made me suffer torture with sour indigestion and heartburn. My tongue was badly coated. I had a foul taste in my mouth, and the gas in my stomach made me so uncomfortable that often I could hardly sleep a wink all night. I was always having to take strong weakening cathartics, and between this trouble and the indigestion I hardly had strength enough left to carry on my job as a miner.

"A neighbor of mine got such fine results from Retonga I tried it, and the relief it brought me beats anything I have ever seen. I eat anything I want now and lots of it. I don't have to take strong cathartics and I feel fine. Retonga deserves all the praise that I can give it."

Accept no substitutes. Retonga may be obtained at Eckerd's and Pay Less Store.—Adv.

Wang Wang Blues Feature Day's Contest At 'Y' Camp

Continued good weather plus high spirited boys keeps Camp Fred L. Rentz, the Y.M.C.A. camp out along the Harlansburg road, buzzing with activity, according to Director William Winter. The Wang Wang Blues ball team featured yesterday by emerging victorious in hard fought mushball and volleyball games.

Nevertheless the Redskins increased their mushball lead by defeating the Thunderbolts. However, the Redskins bit the dust before the Thunderbolts in the volleyball battle.

The R. J. Tully Cabin with a perfect score easily won the day's inspection honors.

Evening goings ons included a treasure hunt in which the Kate L. Rentz and Jack Gerson Cabins managed to unravel the difficult trail laid by the counsellors. A treat, donated by Dr. and Mrs. Sherman, followed the hunt and the evening was closed by ghost stories by Director Winter and Jim Hares which sent the boys to bed in a pleasant shiver.

Last Registration Low In Pennsylvania

Enlistments And War Work Thought To Account For 25,000 Shortage

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 10.—Registration of men between the ages of 18 and 20 years six months for possible military service were approximately 24,227 below preliminary estimates, Col. Benjamin F. Evans, acting selective service director for Pennsylvania, announced today.

Evans told Gov. Arthur H. James that 215,773 men were registered on June 30, although board officials estimated earlier that on the basis of popualtion approximately 240,000 men would register.

The estimate fell short, Evans said, because many young men either had enlisted in the armed forces or had migrated to other sections of the country to engage in defense work. He predicted that the registration loss would be made up when cards are received from Pennsylvanians who registered in other parts of the country.

In its present form, the Apostles Creed dates back to the fourth century. It is a compilation or declaration of faith.

Coast Golfer Shoots 12 Pars, 4 Birdies In Western Amateur Tournament

(International News Service)

SPOKANE, Wash., July 10.—Corp. Pat Abbot of Los Angeles stole the show today from defending champion Corp. Marvin "Bud" Ward as the western amateur golf championships moved into the third round at the Manito club in Spokane.

Abbot turned in the finest round of match play to date when he defeated Phil Baird of Spokane yesterday, 3 and 2. The Los Angeles soldier carded 12 pars and four birdies for the 16 holes played.

Meanwhile, Ward, who has a sizeable amount of prestige to uphold as defending titlist and national champion, fell far off his usual form. He eliminated Fritz Metzger of Tacoma 3 and 2 but was four over par when the match ended on the 16th.

Youthful Sailor Killed In Fall

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 10.—William Waugaman, 18-year-old sailor recently graduated from the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, was dead today and his companion, seriously injured, was in a hospital, following their fall from a 50-foot cliff while flying a model airplane.

Waugaman struck his head on a jagged rock at the foot of the cliff and died almost instantly. His companion, Robert Schweitzer, seven, was taken to a hospital suffering internal injuries.

Police speculated that the boys, intent upon watching the flight of the plane, were unaware they were so close to the edge of the cliff.

Disabled Tirpitz Still Hunted By Allied Warships

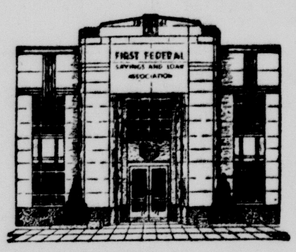

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 10.—American warships probably are participating with the British home fleet in the hunt for the torpedo-damaged German battleship Tirpitz and other Nazi warships which attempted to raid a Russia-bound convoy, the naval expert of the Daily Express declared today.

The crippled Tirpitz, with its speed greatly reduced by two torpedo hits scored by a Russian submarine, probably is hiding in some deep fjord in the vicinity of Narvik or Tromsoe, the Express expert believes.

As this is outside the range of RAF bombers, it can be assumed that the home fleet, recently reinforced by units of the American Navy, will track down and engage the German vessels. Russian accounts of the attempted raid on the British-American convoy north of Norway said the giant Tirpitz was accompanied by the 10,000-ton heavy cruisers Luetzow and Admiral Hipper, the pocket battleship Admiral Scheer and eight destroyers.

AEF, BEF Learn Teamwork In N. Ireland Maneuvers

Tough, Realistic Sham War Readies U. S., British Troops For Invasion

Dive Bombing, Tank Attacks And Paratroops Feature 6-Day Fight

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

AEF HEADQUARTERS IN NORTHERN IRELAND, July 10.—American-led British and United States troops scored a hard-fought but decisive victory over a similar joint force commanded by British officers in a six-day sham battle in Northern Ireland, final tallies disclosed today.

A synchronized attack with high-level and dive bombers followed by landing of parachute troops paved the way for a final tank assault that give victory to the "army" led by Maj. Gen. Russell P. Hartle, commander-in-chief of the AEF in Ireland.

The general staff directing the opposing forces was made up of British and American officers to accustom the ranking officers with the slightly varying procedures followed in the United States and British armies.

The mass maneuvers were the first large scale operations undertaken since the AEF landed on Irish soil. The sham battle was carried out under actual battle conditions in many respects and the men were hard-driven to toughen their endurance and steel their nerves for the coming offensive against the Axis.

"The lessons of the maneuvers brought no surprises," one of the staff officers declared today. "It is still obvious that victory must go to the side having more armored divisions, heavy mobile artillery and the proper balance of different types of aircraft. And these forces must be brought to bear at the right place at the right time."

During the six days of "battle" the fortunes of war swayed back and forth until the final day when Gen. Hartle threw in his armored units to decide the issue. Hartle's paratroops, which were another decisive factory in his victory, were a regiment of RAF veterans.

Observers of the maneuvers were many high-ranking United Nations officers, including Gen. Sir Alan Brooke of the British staff and Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski, commander-in-chief of Polish forces.

The losing side was commanded by British Gen. Matendie with a staff of British and American officers.

Gen. Sikorski paid high tribute to the American forces, the staff work of its officers and the excellence of its equipment.

Pennsy Pushes Sale Of U. S. War Bonds

Assisting in the national drive to sell more and more war bonds to help beat the Axis, the E. and A. division of the Pennsylvania railroad today announced that many of their freight cars have been stenciled with a huge "Buy War Bond" legend over 9 feet long.

Quick Extridition Given To Bunders

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 10.—Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker Thursday signed an order to remove to New York Walter F. Scheller, Jr., 25, and Joseph Bachmaier, 29, alleged leaders of the German-American bund in Erie.

Flying Hospitals Readied By Army

Transports To Fly Supplies To Front, Then Take Wounded To Safety

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Transport planes now being used to move supplies to the various fronts soon will be turned into "flying hospitals" for the evacuation of sick and wounded military personnel on return trips under plans announced today by Secretary of War Stimson.

"The planes will serve a double function, bringing in supplies as well as taking out wounded." Stimson explained. "For the latter purpose they will be equipped with fittings for racks and supports to accommodate standard army litters, and will be able to carry as many as 40 patients in comfort.

"They will have facilities for surgical teams and for blood transfusions and the use of plasma, as well as medicines, stimulants and sedatives, thermos jugs for liquids and chemical heating pads. The standard army air forces oxygen mask is well adopted to medical needs."

A unit to be known as the air evacuation group now is being organized to handle the new duties, Stimson said. It will function as part of the air transport command. Plans now being drawn up call for a flexible system which will enable the use in each war theater of a technique specially adapted to it.

"Over difficult terrain, a trip that may take as much as 18 hours by ground travel is accomplished in an hour by air," the secretary added. "In addition to this often vital factor of speed, the patient transported by air is spared the strain of jolting over rough roads."

Each evacuation will be under the direction of a flight surgeon, trained in the selection of cases and conversant with the effects of air travel. Each plane will carry an army nurse and one trained medical corps enlisted man to care for patients.

Mrs. Pratt intends to continue her trip to visit another brother in San Antonio, Texas, and her son, Private James W. Pratt, of the army air force, who is hospitalized at Denver, Colo.

Report Village On Island Off Bergen Burned By Germans

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 10. — Reuters (British) News Agency quoted the Norwegian Telegraph Agency as reporting that Nazi occupational authorities burned down the village of Bulandet, located on an island off Bergen, and carried off a part of the male population.

No reason for the act was given.

(Editor's Note: The Germans destroyed two Czech villages and killed the elder male population. The Germans removed every trace of the villages, even the rubble left after the houses and buildings were destroyed.)

Price Regulation Amendment Made On Fur Garments

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 10. — The Office of Price Administration today amended its price regulation to provide that women's fur garments for the coming season may be sold at prices no higher than sellers charged last season for the same type of wraps and kinds of fur.

All sales by retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers of women's fur jackets, capes, strollers, wraps, coats, muffs, scarfs and stolls are covered by the new regulation which becomes effective today.

Officials said the regulation was issued because sellers have been unable to establish maximum prices for women's fur garments under the general maximum price regulation, inasmuch as there were practically no sales or offers for sale of these articles in March, 1942.

Provide For Extra Gas For Candidates

East Coast Program Provides "Special Rations" For Political Work

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Campaigning and electioneering were listed today among the privileged pursuits for which "special rations" of the east coast's precious supply of gasoline will be provided under the new rationing program effective July 22.

Congressmen, state legislators, bonified candidates for public office and persons engaged in carrying voters to the polls are included in the class of users entitled to a supply of gasoline over and above the basic "A" portion doled out to the average motorist.

At present, however, congressmen, candidates and the general public alike were permitted to register only for the basic "A" books. Applications for the supplemental rations will have to be filed later with local rationing boards.

Under the old temporary plan of rationing gasoline along the Atlantic seaboard, unlimited "X" cards were provided to certain classes of users. Nearly 50 per cent of the members of Congress applied for such ration books.

The new program provides "special rations", if necessary, for:

"Carrying persons to and from the polls for the purpose of voting in public elections; or to act as election officials; or for use by a bonified candidate for public office for purposes essential to the prosecution of his candidacy."

Need a New Car? then-better get it!

Think things THROUGH on buying a new car! If you are Eligible under Newly Liberalized Rules it's Smart to BUY NOW! And here's why!

The Government wants us all to save gasoline.

The Government wants us to save rubber.

The Government also wants to make most efficient use of transportation facilities now available—including cars now built and ready for sale.

You do not help the country by continuing to "get along" on a car no longer fully efficient, safe or dependably able to serve you in any necessary use.

If you can qualify under latest rationing rules, you are recognized as an essential driver.

As such you are not only entitled to your share of available gasoline and rubber, but are in reality expected to make the best use of them.

Your Buick dealer can show you that you can more efficiently do this in a brand-new, gas-thrifty, solidly dependable new 1942 Buick than in an older car which may have seen better days.

So before jumping at conclusions, get the whole story on new-car buying. Drop in on your Buick dealer for full details. He is at your service—any time.

Are you included in this list?

ARE YOU directly or indirectly engaged in the production of war materials or the prosecution of the war?

ARE YOU a physician, surgeon, nurse, veterinarian, clergyman or farmer?

DO YOU use your car in public service, such as fire or police, public health, highway maintenance work or the like?

ARE YOU owner of a taxicab or other vital means of public transportation?

ARE YOU a newspaper wholesaler, or a salesman in essential fields connected with war work?

THESE ARE the broad groups who are eligible under present rationing rules to buy new automobiles. There are other details of eligibility, of course, but if you are included in the above, it will pay you to see your Buick dealer now and get full information. Get the facts before you assume either that you can't or shouldn't buy a new car now!

If you're eligible to buy—

Better Buy Buick!

GARDENERS WARNED ON MEXICAN BEAN BEETLE

Many Lawrence county gardeners have a private war on their hands in fighting the Mexican bean beetle. The insect is busily engaged in skeletonizing the leaves of bean plants and eventually will eat pits in the surface of the pods or sections out of the pods.

If only a few beetles are noticed they can be picked by hand and killed, while egg masses on the undersides of leaves can be mashed to prevent their hatching into larvae which do most of the damage by feeding from the undesrsides of the leaves.

Where such treatment is demanded in order to control the insect spraying or dusting with a quick-acting insecticide is necessary. Rotenone dust is preferable. Manufactured dusts may be used, or the gardener may mix his own in proportions to give one-half of one per cent or three-fourths of one per cent rotenone. Lime must not be used in preparing the mixture, the recommended diluents or carriers for the derris powder being either finely ground tobacco dust, inert clay, talc, diotomaceous earth, infusorial earth, wheat flower, gypsum or kaolin. If the gardener prefers to use a spray, it can be made with two to 2½ ounces of derris powder in three gallons of water.

An arsenical dust made up of one pound of magnesium arsenate and five pounds of hydrated lime may be used, or a spray of two pounds of magnesium arsenate in 50 gallons of water may be applied. The arsenical treatment should not be used after the beans have formed. It is best to use it early and then substitute rotenone after the beans have formed, because the rotenone is not poisonous to humans. All treatments should be applied to the undersides of the leaves where the beetles feed.

STAKE AND PRUNE THE HOME GARDEN TOMATOES

One of the timely tasks of many Lawrence county gardeners is the staking and pruning of tomatoes where the space was limited and a sufficient quantity of plants was available for close planting.

While it is true that more tomatoes are produced per plant if they are unpruned, more tomatoes can be grown in a square rod of ground if the plants are staked and pruned. However, four times as many plants are required.

Gardeners use stakes five feet tall and these are placed six inches from the plant. When the first cluster is in bloom, small branches start to grow in the axils of the leaves or in the angle between the stem and leaf. These small branches are pinched off, which allows a single stem to grow.

As the terminal continues to grow, the stalk is tied to the stake with soft twine and new suckers are pinched off at 10-day intervals. Six to seven clusters will be produced along the single stem during the season.

USED MATERIAL FITS INTO NEW FARM CONSTRUCTION

Properly prepared and used, salvaged material can be of great importance in farm construction now that shortages of some building materials are becoming acute.

Farm structure engineers of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Bureau of agricultural chemistry and engineering point to some ways salvage materials can be used. Stone and brick from old walls, well cleaned, are as suitable for use in building as new materials, but bats (pieces of brick) should not be used in chimneys or other places in the building where considderable strength is necessary. Sooty bricks are not suitable for walls to be painted, whitewashed or plastered, but may be used for paving walks.

Because of a variation in size, old-dimsension lumber should not be used with new material if straight, true surfaces are required, unless the old lumber is sized to correspond to the new. Cut off the split ends of joists and rafters and use only the sound parts.

Old, straightened nails will do for nailing sheathing, even in hardwood, if the points are forced into soap or beeswax which may be kept in a small hole drilled in the end of a hammer.

Old sash usually require new glazier's points and putty. New putty should not be placed until the wood has been well primed with white lead and boiled linseed oil. Doors that have wood edges may be planed down or sawed as required, and loose or open joints repaired.

Rusted sheet metal, structural steel and hardware should be sanded smooth and coated with red lead and raw linseed oil.

CONDITIONS FAVORABLE TO PARASITES OF SHEEP

Frequent treatment for internal parasites, pasture rotation and good livestock management will make thousands of dollars for Pennsylvania sheep growers during the next few months.

An abundance of early summer rain has made the gross grow tall. With the coming of warm weather, conditions will be ideal for the incubation of sheep stomach worms. The ordinary stomach worm is abundant during the three summer months.

Sheep men are urged to be alert to the possible danger of the situation and to treat their sheep for internal parasites every 21 days. Information on the materials and methods to be used in treatment may be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Association office, 206 Post Office building, New Castle.

Stewart Revival Continues Tonight

Mass Meetings To Be Held Sunday Afternoon In Downtown Churches

Once again on Thursday evening, local and out-of-town friends interested in the James A. Stewart union revival campaign filled the main auditorium of the First Baptist church. A number of pastors were present.

A spirited evangelistic song service, led by Rev. Oliver W. Hurst, marked the opening of the service and special numbers were presented by the union campaign choir and New Castle Festival Choir. Mr. Stewart spoke on "The Man Who Left God Out of His Business Life".

The subject announced for this evening is "A Scene in an Eastern Ballroom". Mr. Stewart will also show a 15 minute war picture this evening.

Mass Meetings will be held Sunday afternoon for women in the First Methodist church and for men in the First Christian church. There will be, also, a Young People's rally and mass rally Sunday evening in the First Methodist church.

Wheat Situation And Crop Outlook In World Discussed By Babson

(By ROGER W. BABSON)
(Copyright—1942—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

GLOUCESTER, Mass., July 10.—With the harvest season just getting underway, attention is now focused on the wheat belts. Crops were never more important to the United States, to Canada, and to the rest of the world than they are today. In fact, the ultimate outcome of the war and the terms of its peace may center more around our farm commodities than around munitions. Before discussing our own crop outlook, I should like to summarize, briefly, the case abroad.

BABSON

Foreign Status

First, let me say that in spite of the necessity of supplying other countries with grains, Germany is probably not hard-up. Certainly, her people are not starving to death by any means. Hitler has held on to the Ukraine which is the greatest wheat producing section in the world. In addition to the Ukraine, Germany has the fields of Rumania and Hungary to draw upon. Particularly in Poland and Greece the situation is very bad. It is, however, possible that Greece may get some United States help.

Crop conditions in Norway, the Netherlands, and Czechoslovakia can be considered definitely below pre-war standards. The people of France, Belgium, and Yugo-Slavia are definitely underfed and starving in many instances. Spain, still feeling the effects of her civil war, is also in a bad way. All European countries can look forward only to further cuts in feeding. This also applies to Italy which—before the Libyan defeat—was to be the location of the much talked of "Second Front".

Tide May Turn

If Norway or France are invaded by the United States, or if Russia pushes the Germans out of the occupied Ukraine, the situation with respect to Germany's food question can quickly change for the worse. Furthermore, like us in fact to some extent, much of the corn the Axis can get must be turned into alcohol for industrial purposes.

In spite of recent bad news from the war fronts, and more may come before the pendulum swings in our favor, I have no fear of the ultimate outcome. Starvation is a killing process, but is also a toughening agent. The weak will succumb first but those who manage to survive in occupied countries will be a powerful factor in revolt against Germany. They already look to the United States, not only for the liberation of their freedom, but also for their stomach's sake.

U. S. Supplies

Total 1942 wheat production is estimated at 868 million bushels. With an anticipated carry-over of 630 million bushels, we should have a supply, provided the weather is with us, of about 1,500 million bushels. This chalks up a new record and will provide the greatest single source of supply the world has ever known. Domestic consumption will take something less than half, say around 700 million bushels for food purpose. The only hope of the wheat farmer lies with making alcohol and other industrial products.

Much depends upon the duration of the armistice. Peace in itself may not come with the ending of physical hostilities. There may be a long armistice of from two to five years. During this period our wheat supply will come in handy when we are trading around the peace table. If fighting is over within a year, we can expect a drop of at least 50% in our supply of wheat holdings. If the war continues longer, we shall have sufficient acreage to grow an even larger crop. In fact, in view of the immense yield this year, Washington is not increasing the 1943 allotment. Farmers are asked to grow other crops where possible.

What About Farmers?

Certainly, farmers are sitting pretty. They always face uncertain weather so that item can be discounted. This year farm labor will be a problem, but I expect it will be taken care of. In a real pinch, troops can be detailed to get the crops in. The great patron of the farmer is, of course, the Farm Bloc. Although they, to date, have gotten everything they wanted; yet they are still seeking both larger crops and higher prices. I am told they will get them; but if they do, the greater the crash will be some time in the future. Any present bearish factors are discounted by Government subsidy, storage allotments, and parity program.

Unless the boll weevil goes on the rampage there should be an excess of cotton which is already selling at $10. a bale less than earlier in the year. Corn is down more than 7% from its 1942 peak; oats are down about 18%; rye, 32%; butter, 7%; eggs, 16%. This general farm products price trend has been leveling out for several months. Farmers and the government can control production but cannot control prices. It now looks as if the artificial stimulant in the form of parity loans has spent its force. The whole farm program has been running too wild. Even corn stored on farms exceeds a billion bushels, or 55% above the 10-year average for this date. Hog slaughterings, dairy products, and eggs exceed all records. For instance, milk production this year will be around 56 billion quarts compared with the previous 5-year average of 49 billion; while creamery butter stocks on hand are nearly 40 million pounds compared with 18 million a year ago.

Conclusion

Summing up, it can be said that politics now dominate the crop markets. For both the trader and the farmer, however, the outlook is temporary promising. Furthermore, the importance to our war and peace program of our grain harvest and carry-overs cannot be over-emphasized. Farm communities, including banks, newspapers, and retail establishments, as well as the mail-order chains, should all benefit along with the farmer. Remember, however, that what goes up must some day come down. Thus, farmers, now approaching the peak of their prosperity, should lay aside funds for the inevitable rainy day. Now is the time to get out of debt if you owe money. Otherwise, spend more on maintenance and improvements which will enable you to cut expenses to the bone when your honeymoon is over.

'Not Over 40' Wins Driver's Approval

President Roosevelt's Request Get Action In Most States, Says Samuels

(Special To The News)

President Roosevelt's appeal for maximum speed limits of 40 m.p.h. has met with widespread acceptance according to Alec Samuels, president of the New Castle Motor Club.

"Already twelve states have reduced their limits to 40 m. p. h. to conserve gasoline and rubber," said Mr. Samuels. "These states are: Alabama, Arizona Arkansas, Connecticut, Maine, Massachussetts, New Jersey, New York, Oklahoma, Utah, Virginia, and Washington. A 40 m. p. h. bill was killed in the Louisiana State Senate, but a similar bill was immediately introduced in the House.

"In addition, the governors of many states have publicly pledged cooperation and asked the motorists to voluntarily observe 40 m. p. h. as a maximum speed," Mrs. Samuels continued. "Among this group were a number of states in which special legislation is necessary to reduce the speed limits, and where such action is impossible until 1943 because 1942 is a legislative off-year.

"Other steps taken by states to reduce gas consumption and tire wear through decrease in speed include courteous requests by state highway patrolmen to keep speed below 40 m. p. h.; requirement that state-owned vehicles be operated on 40 m. p. h. limit; and publicity campaigns utilizing press and radio."

Army Officers To Vacate Desk Jobs

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Early exodus of army officers and personnel from desk jobs in the nation's capital to combat duties in the field was foreseen today as the war department announced plans to assign 11,000 members of the army specialist corps to various duties this year.

Comprised mostly of men beyond draft age, the newly formed corps will appoint and assign men "only for specific needs or to fill vacancies where the individual's services in an administrative, professional, scientific or technical capacity will release personnel for combat or command duties," the war department said.

REDUCE COUNTY DEBT

Perhaps you are interested in the fact that you owe less money as county indebtedness than you did a month ago. A payment of $24,000 on highway bonds is being made this month and $6,772.50 interest charges. A payment of $247.50 interest on county home bonds was also paid.

The bond payment brings down the total bonded indebtedness of the county to $288,000. In other words, every man, woman and child of the county owes about $2.88 each to clear the county indebtedness. This of course cannot be done as the bonds are serial bonds and can only be paid as they mature.

In January the last payment of $11,000 will be paid on the county home bonds and when this payment is made the home will be free of debt. Barring any bond issues or loans made by the county commissioners between now and then, the county will be free of bonded indebtedness in 1951.

Well, Thursday it could be noticed that the wagon and its contents were gone, and the question has finally been answered. There were four rubber tires on the wheels, and with the growing scarcity of rubber, probably some good use was found for the tires.

Use Sea Water In Production Of Magnesium

Strategic Medal Being Produced By American Industry

(International News Service)

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. — New American plants are making magnesium from sea water in such quantities that the United States and England are now equaling and will surpass Germany in production of this strategic metal, according to Dr. R. H. Harrington, metallurgist in the General Electric Research Laboratory.

An authority on alloys and heat treatment of alloys, Dr. Harrington said that the largest single use of magnesium, a metal only two-thirds as heavy as aluminum, is as an alloying element in aluminum base alloys. Many of these are used in airplanes.

"Of the common engineering metals, magnesium is about the only one in which Germany was self-sufficient, and up to three years ago, Germany, using magnesium and its alloys as a main 'ersatz' substitution material, produced about three-fourths of the world's consumption," he pointed out. "Today England and our country together are probably equalling the German output and, next year, should exceed German production in magnesium.

"Early in 1939," he continued, "it became apparent that the metal supply would be inadequate, and new production facilities were provided which increased the production by nearly 100 percent to 17 million pounds for 1940.

"Present production points to a yield of 30 million pounds for 1941 and nearly 90 million pounds in 1942—from six million to 90 million pounds in three years."

This remarkable expansion is being made possible by new plants using sea water as a source, according to Dr. Harrington.

"Even though the concentration of magnesium in sea water is quite low, there are about four and one-half million tons of magnesium in a cubic mile of sea water," he said. "Thus only one cubic mile of sea water will furnish 90 million pounds of magnesium metal each year for 100 years!"

Dr. Harrington declared that all the other necessary metals for magnesium base alloys are readily available in this country.

Axis Success In Libya Due To Night Maneuvers Asserts Senator Lodge

By ELLIOTT HAYES
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Swift night maneuvers such as union and confederate forces used 80 years ago are responsible at least in part for Axis military successes in Northern Africa, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., (R) Mass., said today.

Lodge an army major, has just returned from Libya where he and other American officers went to study desert warfare and see American arms in actual combat operation.

The German general, Erwin Rommel, Lodge said, has frequently moved troops, tanks and supplies over the vast, level desert when it was so dark a man couldn't see his hand held at arm's length in front of him.

He said, too, that the British could possibly hold their present front because they occupy the only define on a desert that is flat as a table top.

Their problem, he explained, is to get men and supplies to the battlefront and this takes considerable time and ships that are now at a premium everywhere.

Meanwhile, they have made their stand in the 45 mile-wide passage between the Qattara depression and El Alamein near the Mediterranean shore in Northern Egypt.

On the other hand, Axis forces can easily get troops, supplies and weapons across the Mediterranean from Greece and Italy, Lodge said.

While he declined to say the battle of North Africa will decide the course of the war he did admit it is a "second front".

Commodity Rationing Board Head Explains "Two Pound Bonus" Plan

Some confusion has arisen in the minds of people as to the amount of sugar permitted as a bonus when Sugar stamp seven is presented at a grocery store. Attorney William J. Caldwell, chairman of the Commodity Rationing board today cleared up the misunderstanding in a statement.

Said he, "two pounds of sugar will be given to customers on stamp seven. The use of the word bonus has led to the idea that a bonus of two pounds would be given, making a total of three pounds that will be allowed on this stamp. This is wrong, the total amount of sugar allowed on stamp seven is two pounds.

"Actually the bonus is a bonus of one pound each on stamps five and six, with seven being presented at the time the sugar is purchased. This so-called bonus is permissible between July 10 and August 22nd and only within this period of time."

The statement was made in order that retailers would not make the mistake of giving three pounds on stamp seven instead of two, and thus cutting their own stock down without being able to replenish the extra pound.

Credit Control Code In Effect

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The federal reserve boards credit control code, set up as an anti-inflation measure, became effective today and anyone owing money on 30-day charge accounts dating back to May or earlier must pay it by midnight.

The plan was placed in operation in May, providing that most goods bought on charge accounts must be paid for by the 10th day of the second month following the purchase. Today is the 10th day of that first second month. Purchases made this month must be paid for by Sept. 10.

Persons who are in arrears two months or more will not be allowed to purchase additional goods unless they make arrangements to pay off the back indebtedness in six monthly installments.

Henderson Awaits Decision On Funds

Price Administrator Expects To Get More Than $75,000,000 Voted By House

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Price Administrator Leon Henderson today awaited a decision by the Senate appropriations deficiency subcommittee on his request for enforcement funds, with indications that he will be given more than the $75,000,000 vote by the House.

As the committee went into secret session to decide the fate of Henderson's program, and to act on requests of other agencies for funds, some members predicted that the amount will fall far short of the sum asked by the price chief.

The price administrator, asked by the subcommittee to pare down his estimates, submitted a report showing how cuts in the sought-for appropriation would affect the price enforcement program. He was said to have based his report on an anticipated appropriation of $140,000,000.

Some committee members, it was learned, planned to seek to hold down Henderson's enforcement fund to $100,000,000, with a statement that if his activities must be expanded due to new rationing orders, he can come back to Congress for additional money. Others predicted that the fund would be fixed at $140,000,000.

Henderson originally proposed that he be given $210,000,000 for enforcement, but the budge bureau cut it to $161,000,000, and the House slashed it further. The budget figure provided for 66,000 employes.

The subcommittee also had before it a demand by spokesmen for major farm organizations that new curbs on Henderson's power be written into the bill.

USE GRASS AS ENSILAGE

(International News Service)

COQUILLE, Ore.—W. E. Cross recently declared that his experimental use of reed canary grass as an ensilage during the 1941 season has proved entirely successful.

Cross said the preserved grass made excellent feed for dairy cattle and contained a high content of digestible protein and other necessary nutrients. He said the feed was tender when made into ensilage and that it was safe from the dangers of summer rains which often spoil large hay acreages in coastal regions.

Big Entry List For West Penn Open Indicated

Entries Beginnng To Come In From Out Of Town For Public Links Tourney

WILL BE PLAYED ON LOCAL COURSE

General Chairman Geno Veri, U.S.G.A. representative here, stated today that many out-of-town entries are coming in for the second annual West Penn Public Open Tourney, which will be staged at the Sylvan Heights course on Sunday, July 26, and indications point to the fact that last year's record field of 107 will be exceeded in spite of war-time conditions, which have taken many of the fine young golfers into the service.

Contributions for the event have been coming in from friends of the game here, and it is expected that this year's trophies will be above the average for such events.

The tournament attracts the strictly bonafide amateurs and with New Castle boasting some fine young players who have been steadily improving their game, the outsiders including some of the former national champs, are going to have to look to their laurels, to keep these local youngsters from dominating the field.

Three local boys who are still in their teens, who will bear watching are Ted Lach, who finished in third place in last year's tourney; Jackie Snyder, whose game this year is much improved; and Freddie Broad, all of them still in the schoolboy class.

Then there are some fine players among the older group, who get hot every now and then and shoot some fine scores.

Arrangements for the event are well in hand, Veri states, and the committees in charge of the different functions in connection with the tourney are doing a fine job, assuring of another successful affair.

Miss Mae Armstrong, who was a passenger aboard the ill-fated Egyptian liner Zam Zam, will tell of her experiences during the ship attack and of life aboard the Nazi prison ship at the Free Methodist camp meeting at Sharpsville, Pa., Sunday, July 12 at 2:30 p. m.

Leave it to American women to show their ingenuity. Now they're "pooling" their cars to do their shopping comfortably and conveniently. Usually four women "club" together, riding in one car one day and another the next, thereby saving tires and gasoline for national defense. And by coming to the A&M Super Market they save money, too, because every price is a low price every day. Our "ceilings" cover a store full of savings.

FAIR OR FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, July 10.—Many golf clubs which might go bankrupt or be put out of action at least for the duration are going to get a new lease on life through a movement now on foot to make them available as emergency and convalescent hospitals. This is at once a brand new phase of the war being brought home to us and a boon to some clubs which might fold up due to gas rationing and curtailment of leisure hours among the membership under the stress of war.

Many a club-swinger now is in the service or wrapped up in defense work with little time for frivolities—even if he could get enough gas together at one time to drive to his club for a round, then home again.

Mr. Herb Graffis, the eminent Chicago newspaper man and publisher of golf periodicals, explains it all in a letter and a copy of a piece which is to appear in "Golfdom," a magazine that goes to those interested in the management of golf clubs.

"I understand," says Mr. Graffis in a graphic letter outlining the plan, "that there already appears to be an alarming shortage of hospital beds for service men and that such a shortage will become more acute when more American armed forces get into action.

"The location of golf clubs," he goes on, "generally remote from bombing objective areas, and the surroundings that will be quite an improvement over the surroundings war convalescents usually might expect, give the proposition some quite favorable aspects."

That sounds reasonable enough. A golf club should be about as good a place as you can find in which to recuperate from the war.

Mr. Graffic points out that "it's a cinch that with the transportation difficulties and the time demands of war work, golf clubs can consider the possibility of clubhouse rental for army and navy and emergency civilian hospitals one that will bring in rental enabling the clubs to keep in existence for the duration."

This will be the salvation of many clubs. Make no mistake about that. Gas rationing alone has caused considerable worry, for members have steadily curtailed their golfing activities under the circumstances and many a club about the country is on the verge of closing up until the war is over.

Survey Authorized

The army, the navy and the Red Cross have authorized a survey to determine what facilities are available for returning convalescents from the many fronts, and for civilians in case of enemy depredations on the centers of population in this country.

A prepared questionnaire is being sent to all golf clubs asking whether they are interested in this plan to be rented to the government and asking for all information as to floor space, location in relation to bus lines, trolley lines and the waterfront and pointing out that this move is being made now in preparation for the future.

Heads of golf clubs are being reminded that this is one of the very best ways golf clubs can help out in case they are nedeed and will be a step toward wiping out the long-standing rap that private clubs are the camps of Americans who are not particularly interested in the preservation of democracy.

Crocodiles are said not to have the long life span usually believed to be theirs. Government experts say a 40-year-old crocodile can be said to have lived four time longer than the average member of the clan.

RED SOX, DODGERS, BRAVES VICTORIOUS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 10.—The New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox move along in unison today as both major leagues swung into action for the second day following a three-day layoff during which the all-star games were contested.

The Yankees whipped the St. Louis Browns yesterday, 5 to 2, while the Red Sox were hammering out a 2 to 1 decision over Detroit. As a result the Yankees remained four games ahead of Boston in the race for the American league pennant.

King in Box

With King Peter of Yugoslavia sitting in a box near their dugout, the Yankees played in and out ball to defeat the Browns. Charley Keller belted his tenth home run and Tommy Hendich his ninth to give the champions the victory. At the same time, however, the McCarthy-men committed three errors but fortunately they proved harmless.

Hank Borowy was forced to retire after eight innings of mound work because of a bruised finger, but he received credit for the win after Johnny Murphy came to his rescue.

Manager Joe Cronin acting in a pinch hitter role in the 11th frame, smacked a long fly to give the Red Sox their triumph over the Tigers.

Phil Marchildon allowed only five singles as the Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Cleveland Indians, 5 to 2.

The Chicago White Sox whipped the Washington Senators, 4 to 2, behind five-hit pitching by Johnny Humphries.

In the National league, Lew Gremp hit a home run to give the Boston Braves a 4 to 3 victory over the Chicago Cubs in a struggle that lasted 13 innings. Gremp's pay-off blast came off Jake Mooty, who was the losing pitcher. Lou Tost, who set the Cubs down in order in the home half, was the winner.

Brooklyn swept along still eight and a half games in front of the N. L. parade by topping Cincinnati, 3 to 2, as the Dodgers opened their western swing that should offer a pretty clear picture of the pennant race by the time they head home again. Witlow Wyatt let the Reds down with only five hits.

Cards Swamp Giants

St. Louis, moving along in second place, swamped the New York Giants 9 to 0, behind effective six-hit pitching by young Johnny Beazley. Home runs by Enos Slaughter and Terry Moore featured the Cardinal attack. Beazley himself contributed to the batting onslaught with a triple in the sixth inning with the bases loaded.

Pittsburgh turned their army-navy relief night game into both a financial and athletic success by beating Philadelphia, 9 to 0, before a throng of 29,488 cash customers who contributed $36,308. Rip Sewell held the Phils to five hits in addition to driving in two runs in the eighth frame when the Buccaneers scored eight runs.

Moose-Elders Set For Battle

Crucial City Loop Contest Slated For Marshall Field Tonight At 6 O'Clock

ELDER WIN ENDS FIRST HALF RACE

Confident and rarin' to go, the Elder A. C. and the Moose club swing bats on Marshall field, Scott street, tonight at 6 o'clock in one of the most important City Baseball league battles of the season.

The outcome will either unwind one of the dizziest sandlot campaigns unfurled here in many seasons or further tangle the situation.

As the rivals prepare for the joust, the standing shows the Elders leading the Moose by a half game margin.

Here's the "if" angle:

If the Elders win, they will cop the first half championship.

If the Rodenbaugh-piloted brigade emerges triumphant, the Elders and Moose will be deadlocked for the crown.

If the Moose and Bessemer (which meets Croton tonight) both score victories, the Elders, Moose and Bessemer will be stymied for the toga.

The respective managers, Joe O'Leary and "Fiz" Rodenbaugh refused to name their pitching selection. Both, however, assured all and sundry that their strongest lineups will jaunt on the field for the crucial battle.

While the Moose and Elders are colliding, Bessemer entertains Croton on Bessemer high field. As mentioned above, Bessemer can earn a tie for the crown by winning while the Elders lose.

Slovak club will play at Ellwood City on Saturday afternoon. Slovak players are requested to meet at the Slovak hall on Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

Angelo "Dykes" Monsey, New Castle Field club pro, who was forced to pass up the $5,000 Mahoning Open due to press of duties, will vie in the $500 Poland (Ohio) Open Sunday and Monday. Several other localites will enroll in the event before the deadline.

Addition of Ellwood City to the City Baseball league second half race figures to sprinkle more interest—due to the city-county rivalry angle. The Socials will field an exceptionally well balanced ball club that will win its share of games, as one of the moguls assures all and sundry.

Paul Morrison, West Side prize athlete, has been deferred by the U. S. army because of a left eye defect...New Castle high's 1942 autumn grid training program will be outlined within the next several weeks. The Muddy Creek sessions will get underway during the tail end of August.

Bobo Newsom, who likes to be different, now wants to bat left-handed. If he does, Manager "Bucky" Harris of Washington will counter with a fine...Knock on wood dept: Eddie Miller, Boston Braves shortstop, hasn't committed an error in his last 39 consecutive games.

Joe Gordon, one of the leading swatsmiths in the American league, tops the circuit in strikeouts—33... Buddy Hassett of the Yankees has whiffed only once this season.... Terry Moore, St. Louis Cardinals scat outfielder, has been renamed captain.

Teddy Lyons ranks as the best Sunday pitcher in the majors. All but possibly two of his seven triumphs have been recorded on Sabbath...Only 20 of the 50 players selected on the two all-star teams wore New York uniforms.

Columbia university has communiqued that it will play an additional grid game besides its regular schedule, facing Fort Monmouth on September 26 in New York. The army relief will be the beneficiary. ...Hal Elward, ex-Purdue grid mentor, will pilot a Navy team this fall. He's a lieutenant commander.

Steve led the Slovak club to the city circuit championship in 1939. The Slovak fans believe he will be able to bring the Slovak league into first place or very close to it during the second half of the present season.

Some of the service men who played in Cleveland for the benefit of the Army and Navy relief fund probably have played their last game. Some of them who are in the Navy service will be soon soon assigned to sea duty and those in the Army service will play only on camp diamonds. Plan To Award Several Bonds

Bomb Fighting Will Also Be Featured At Taggart Field Event

ALL-STAR BOXERS ARE BEING SIGNED

Bill Connery, general chairman of the Firemen's and Ex-Service men's pugilistic extravaganza at Taggart stadium, July 21, today asserted that several war bonds will be given away to ticket holders and in addition, there will be demonstrations as to how to properly and improperly extinguish incendiary bombs that may fall here from any Axis bombers that may evade the Atlantic patrol.

The organization has secured the bonds and everyone who has a ticket will have an opportunity to walk out of the stadium with one.

Clarence Jarrett, chairman of the ticket committee yesterday sent Fire Chief Thomas and County Commissioner Travers pasteboards to different sections of the city.

He announced that not only will a house-to-house campaign be made by Boy Scouts but also of the business, industrial, fraternal, and professional worlds. Pasteboards can be secured at all fire houses.

In speaking of the coming attraction, General Chairman Connery said:

"It is our purpose to stage an All-Star boxing show to raise money for purchasing emergency equipment. No one knows when it will be needed. However, if the show is successful we will have it ready if bombs fall here.

"Already shells have landed upon our shores. Planes have bombed Dutch Harbor and a submarine shelled a Pacafic coast town. If an Axis bomber eluded the Atlantic patrol, this section would be its goal.

"Everybody here is affected I believe that, if everybody pulls together and co-operates they will not only see a good entertainment by amateur boxers but also help to protect themselves."

Fred Duff has been selected by the organization as treasurer.

The Jefferson A. C. will run the pugilistic end of the show under the supervision of the State Athletic commission and Amateur Athletic union

Victory A. C. Nabs 10th Softball Win

Victory A. C. softball team racked up its 10th City league triumph last night, defeating the Castles, 7-5, on Clifton Flats field.

The same teams play again tonight at Clifton Flats at 6:15 o'clock.

The Victory A. C. is tied with the McClellands for first place honors with 10 triumphs and only three losses.

Select Russell As Slovak Pilot

Steve "Snag" Russell, well known sports enthusiast, today announced that he was elected manager of the Slovak A. C. baseball team Thursday night during a meeting.

Russell, who piloted the Slovaks back in 1939, is endeavoring to round up a strong lineup for the second half City Baseball league race.

All-Star Games Net Funds About $210,000

Moguls Still Discussing Plans For Series; Landis Favors A. L. Project

By JACK MAHON
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 10.—Back in their own backyards after a couple of swell shows in which their buddies in the more colorful uniforms of their country benefited by approximately $210,000, the baseball players of the nation have renewed their pennant battles while the bigwigs of the national pastime debated the next best way of pouring much needed gold into the coffers of the service relief agencies.

Though no decision was expected on the matter for at least a week the gossip around baseball circles has to do with just which plan the advisory council of the major leagues will adopt in relation to the 1942 world series.

No Agreement

As you have probably read there have been a couple of plans under consideration and, after four hours of debate on Monday, just before the all-star game, the Mr. Bigs of the big leagues could not agree on what to do.

We think the judge will order that the series be played in the regulation manner and that all profits, including the $100,000 for which he has sold the radio rights, be turned over to the service relief funds, after the players have been paid their share for the first four games.

Among the plans discussed at the recent meeting, which was filled with plenty of hot air, as well as cigar smoke, were:

(1) A plan submitted by that well known plan-submitter, Leland Stanford MacPhail of the Brooklyn Dodgers, which would have the series lengthened to 15 games, the champions to be crowned after they had won eight games and the games to be played all over the country on a road-show basis.

(2) To play the series in the usual manner and, after the players had been paid, to split all other profits to the army emergency relief, the navy relief society and the Red Cross.

The National league, we were told, seems to favor the cross-country idea because it would in their opinion, give the baseball hungry nation some added entertainment in this weary war year.

Favors A. L. Plan

By a couple of the American league officials who wish to remain anonymous, we we are told Judge Landis leans toward the A. L. plan because he doesn't want to make too much of a carnival of baseball and thinks the transportation and housing difficulties entailed would make any series tour too much of a headache and risky proposition.

No matter what the grand council (Landis) decides, however, one thing is certain: service relief societies will get another jackpot of between $500,000 and $1,000,000 from the world series and the players are expected to break down, too, and toss a couple of bucks of their "take" into the till. They usually split up about $300,000 so that won't be hard to take.

To Help Preserve Our Precious Resources of Wool, Winter Suggests . . .

How to Get More Wear Out of Your Clothes

Because the wool shortage makes it imperative that we get the utmost service from our apparel, we stress the importance of buying good clothes and taking good care of them. We are happy to offer the following wool conserving hints:

Do— Use moth repellents when storing clothes. U. S. recommended chemicals are Napthalene and Paradichoioro Benzene. Success depends on tightness of closet or container.

Don't— Hang coats over the backs of chairs as the shape of the garment is ruined. Use a good coat hanger . . . one shaped exactly like the human neck and shoulders.

Do— Dry clean your clothes, especially prior to storing, using only an experienced and reliable establishment. Soil spots form the moth worm's first line of attack.

Don't— Wear the same suit day after day without a change. Rotate your suits. This gives the fabric a better chance to spring back into shape.

Do— Press clothes frequently, remembering that pressing in a steam presser is far better than with a dry iron. Steam pressing revives and preserves the fibres of the fabric.

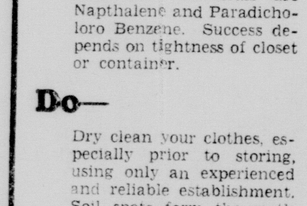

Don't— Lounge around in your best clothes or romp with the children. Slip into slacks and sport clothes when you wish to relax at home.

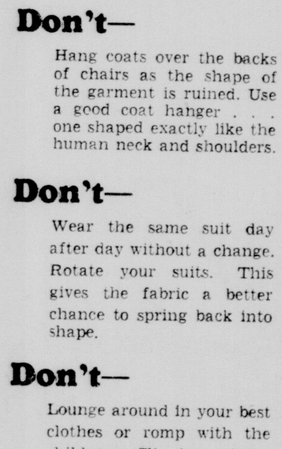

Do— Brush clothes frequently, using a bristle clothes brush. This removes discolorant and abrasive dust, stimulates the fibres, and adds months to the life of your garments.

Don't— Delay the repairing of rips, tears or burns. These can be rewoven if too conspicuous to be darned . . . so can moth holes. We will be pleased to take care of this service for you.

Hard Hitting Minor League Shortstop To Make Buc Debut Saturday, Sunday

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 10.—Sorely in need of a hard-hitting shortstop to bolster their attack, the Pittsburgh Pirates today announced that Eugene "Huck" Geary, of the Minneapolis Millers will arrive in Pittsburgh in time to make his major league debut either tomorrow or Sunday.

In exchange for Geary, President William E. Benswanger said the Pirates gave the Millers a "robust cash consideration," second baseman Stu Martin on outright release and shortstop Alf Anderson on option.

Geary, who is 25 years old and married, formerly played with Buffalo and Scranton before joining the Millers. His batting average this season is .303 compared with Martin's .225 and Anderson's .266.

Develops Electric Aid To Fishermen On Hunt For Bait

Now that the bass season is on the loose in Pennsylvania till November 30, local fishermen are often confronted with the problem of keeping a fresh supply of worms on hand.

It seems that worms cannot always be kept in good condition, since their mortality is greatly affected by climatic changes.

Earl Sweesy of 803 West Washington street, has overcome this difficulty by devising a novel method whereby he can get a fresh supply of bait at a moment's notice.

Though he does not claim to be the originator of this device, its effectiveness is not to be questioned. Mr. Sweesy took a steel pole provided with a wooden handle. To this he attached the hot wire of a one-hundred ten volt circuit. When the rod was plunged into the ground, worms within a three feet radius could be seen coming out of the ground. Mr. Sweesy warned, that the fishing enthusiast who decides to construct such a device must be careful to see that the current is dead before handling it. Also, the handle should be properly insulated.

Obviously, this device does not guarantee success in any type of ground but only in ground where one would ordinarily seek worms. As an interesting note, Mr. Sweesy stated that angle worms have been known to grow as long as six to eight feet.

Dodgers-Pirates Still Top League

Dodgers and Pirates continued to set the pace in the Johnson Bronze Night Turn softball circuit with six wins against two setbacks.

Last night at Gaston park the Dodgers whaled the Giants, 12-1. "Peaches" Kolcz socked a homer while George, Humphries and Gallano whacked doubles.

At Dean park, the Pirates squeezed out a 6-5 triumph over the Reds. McCormick homered.

Announcement was made today that the Braves have dropped out of the league.

Standing:

	W.	L.
Dodgers	6	2
Pirates	6	2
Reds	4	4
Giants	2	7

July 14—Dodgers vs Pirates, Gaston park (two games). Reds vs Giants, Dean park (two games).

Princeton Shifts Two Grid Tussles

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 10.—Princeton alumni living in the New York area rejoiced today at the news that the 1942 Princeton-Navy and Princeton-Army games will be held in the Yankee Stadium in New York.

Originally scheduled for Palmer Stadium, in Princeton, the games were transferred because travel difficulties would make it impossible for the large number of Princeton graduates in New York to see the games.

The Navy game will be played on October 10 and the Army encounter on November 21.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Again this Sunday evening the church will get together for a revival meeting. Last week the famous Czech Statesman was present for the services . . . this week James A. Stewart will be the speaker . . . a Bonnie Scotch lad that is making the people of this community sit up and take notice. A choir is desired for this meeting so all you singers should get together . . . rehearsal will be held this evening in the First Baptist Church on the corner of North and East Street . . . then at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the First Methodist Church . . . it will be in this church where the Sunday evening services will be held. So . . . singers . . . take note of the above announcement. Your services last week were greatly appreciated.

Cry babies are not limited to the children . . . there are a few business men in this community who are great cry babies. They either want all the business in their particular line or they don't want the person or persons who want to purchase, around . . . and there are people who fall for the cry babies line. We should all be united in times like these . . . and unless we do unite there won't be any business here after the war . . . To date the United States is NOT winning the war . . . come on friends, step up the tempo. Every man, woman and child in these United States has a job to do . . . And the sad part of it all, each one knows what his duty or part is.

Saturday, July 18 . . . The Marines will take over. It will be a gala week-end for the city of New Castle and for the Marine Guests that will be in town. Dancing, Parade and Dinner will be in style . . . you who are the hosts will have a chance to prove your worth . . . and we speak to all of New Castle. When a big day is planned . . . each person is to act as host . . . In other words make the boys feel at home. The committee for this event have been working like beavers . . . Cecil Suber, Franklin Blanning and L. B. Round. Give them support friends.

* * *

Monday evening at 7:30, at 360 Neshannock Avenue there will be a American Legion Band practice . . . all members of the band or those who wish to play with the outfit are asked to report promptly . . . George Moore is the conductor.

Stock Market Slightly Lower

Fractional Changes Are Recorded In Market Trading Of Morning

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 10.—Profit-taking brought on by the sharp rise of the two preceding days brought a lower stock market today. Losses in most cases were limited to fractions, but a number of high priced issues lost more than a point.

Weak spots were American Telephone off 1⅜ points, Union Pacific off 1½, Union Carbide down a point, and Chrysler off 1⅛.

Food and tobacco shares maintained a relatively steady tone.

Trading in the bond market contracted, and lower grade issues gave up small fractions, U. S. Treasuries held steady.

The grain market moved uncertainly with prices well mixed.

Pilot Plant For Test To Be Built

Report New Process To Provide Greater Steel Production To Be Tried

ELLWOOD CITY, July 10.—A solution to the steel industry's perilous scrap problem and a way to a greater steel production were seen as possible today in a new development by Pittsburgh industrialists.

A process has been perfected, it is said, to reduce virtually any kind of iron ore to metallic iron that can be used as melting stock in steelmaking open hearth furnaces in place of common scrap, according to F. C. T. Daniels, chairman of the Combustion Processes Co., formed to develop the invention. "This process should furnish immediate relief in the scarcity of steel scrap," Mr. Daniels said.

Pending before the War Production Board, he announced, is a priority application for materials to build a pilot plant at Ellwood City. A test furnace built about two years ago, on which improvements have been worked out, demonstrated that commercial quantities of iron could be produced from its ore in one direct operation, he said. The blast furnace method of reducing iron ore is an indirect operation. Pig iron tapped from blast furnaces contains impurities which must be removed later in steelmaking furnaces. A shortage of iron and steel scrap, which must be charged with pig iron in open hearth furnaces, constitutes the greatest single threat to wartime steel operations.

No definite word as to where the pilot plant would be built could be obtained from the Chamber of Commerce but they confirmed the report that the pilot plant would be built here in Ellwood City and that steel men would be attracted here to see the operation from all over the country.

School Directors Get Resignations Of Two Teachers

Mrs. Sarah McCaslin Brydon, Mrs. Gertrude Jones Preister Resign

ELLWOOD CITY, July 10.—Resignations of two teachers, Mrs. Sarah McCaslin Brydon, junior high, and Mrs. Gertrude Jones Preister, high school biology, were accepted by the Ellwood board of education the regular July business meeting last night.

It has not been definitely decided whether the vacancies will be filled by new teachers or not. With the closing of the Circle school, there will be three extra teachers to be absorbed in the teaching staff, and with various transfers, the vacancies may be filled without electing any new teachers.

The 1941 school tax duplicate was returned to the tax collector, Howard Wilson, and his bonding company, for the further collection of $10,000 outstanding tax. Nearly all of the amount is listed at per capita tax, as 98 per cent of the property tax for 1941 was paid.

The 1942 duplicate will be withheld until some satisfactory settlement is made. The matter of increased commission for the collection of 1942 tax was held for further study. The summary of the 1942 tax duplicate shows a possible collection of $181,983, with $36,820 of the amount being per capita tax.

Total tax collection for the month of June amounted to $1,979, the greatest amount being $914 for 1940 and prior per capita tax. It is interesting to note at the close of the fiscal year June 1 the board had a balance of $8,939, showing that the budget and collection of taxes for the past year, and other sources of income, were correctly calculated.

Charles Jackson, of the People's National Bank, was elected treasurer. It was agreed to aid with having the bleachers installed for the Jubilee pageant. The commencement gowns will also be used for the Jubilee chorus.

Trail Of Hostels Real 'Shangri-La' For Vacationists

Scenic Horseshoe Retreat Lures Many As Ration Grip Tightens

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 10.—If you're convinced that you'll have to spend this vacation at home to save tires and gasoline for Uncle Sam, then you'd better take a lesson from the hostelers.

Pennsylvania's scenic horseshoe trail is a Shangri-La for nature-minded vacationists, to say nothing of being thrifty. Travel is done entirely by horse or bicycle, eliminating the transportation bug-a-boo, and the average expense per day is $1.25—25 cents for breakfast, 40 cents for lunch, 50 cents for dinner and 25 cents for overnight accommodations. Each hostel has outdoor cooking facilities

The Horseshoe Trail club and the American Youth Hostels will supply complete information for your hosteling trip, but the use of the trails is not confined to the members of these groups.

Good Peach Crop Seen For State

Juicy Peaches Already Ripening; Truck Garden Crops Also Coming Well

(International News Service)

HARRISBUG, July 10 — Peach growers today forecast a good crop this year for Pennsylvania with the earliest varieties already being picked in some of the larger peach orchards.

According to the state department of agriculture, peach growers have reported that the principal crop is maturing and harvesting will begin early in August, about a week or 10 days ahead of the normal period.

Pennsylvania's peach belt is located in Adams, Berks, Lehigh, Cumberland and Franklin counties.

Shortage of vegetables appeared unlikely as the department reported that truck garden crops developed rapidly during the latter part of June with most early yields plentiful and in good condition.

Crops of beans, beets, spinach, carrots, celery, and lettuce were excellent, reports to the federal-state crop reporting service said, although early domestic cabbage lacked quality because maggots and cut-worms damaged the crop in Columbia, Luzerne, Schuylkill and Lackawanna counties.

Victory Gardeners Told: 'Don't Worry'

Storm-Hit Plants Will Still Produce, Farm Expert Says

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, July 10.—If wind, hail, or insects strip half of even more of the leaves from vegetable crops at this season, victory gardeners should not be discouraged, Dr. G. J. Stout, assistant professor of vegetable gardening at Pennsylvania State College, said today. Under favorable conditions, the damaged plants still will produce a good crop.

Storms are hazards which market gardeners continually face, and insects have to be kept under control, he added. The recovery which plants are able to make from apparent ruin is remarkable, and in some cases they seem to be benefited by hard usage.

Teeth Make Thief Of Army Rejectee

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 10. — Thomas Kerr, 25, today ran afoul of the truth that the end doesn't justify the means.

"Kerr told us that he tried to enlist in the army, but they rejected him because of his teeth," a detective told Magistrate Medway. "So he started to steal. He said he used some of the money to have his teeth fixed, then tried again to enlist.

"They turned him down a second time because he was underweight," continued the detective. "Kerr just got disgusted and kept on stealing." He stole about $1,250, police said.
